SPECIAL SALE OF COATS
GORGEOUSLY
FUR ADORNED
$49

Usually Worth $75

Ordinarily $75 would be considered a fair price for these coats. At $49 they represent the acme of value. . . no need to delay longer.

All the smart materials such as Needle-weave, Velouria and Suede are included. Colors taken from glorious Autumn motifs, set off with Fox, Wolf, Beaver, Seal, Caracul, and other fine furs.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is its grandmothers' recipe, and it is again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 5c. It is improved by the addition of other ingredients, and is called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Acid Stomach
"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.

S. SECURITY STILL DEPENDS ON DOUGHBOYS

Aircraft Essential but Incidental, Generals Say.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Asserting that infantry is still the backbone of our national defense, two of the highest ranking generals in the United States army defended the policy of the war department before the President's air board.

One was Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, ranking general in the fighting army and the man who if war came tomorrow would take the position of highest command. The other was Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of staff in the operations division and training and representative today of the army general staff.

Not only did the two generals defend the policy of the war department, but they also defended the policy of the war department in the face of the fact that the war department is now spending $100,000,000 a year on aircraft.

Such a policy, they declared in answer to charges that have been made before the committee that the next war the enemy, striking with its air force, would attempt to destroy our cities and lay the country waste. Gen. Summerall, a tall, determined man, who spoke, he said, from experience gained in the world war, declared that the war department is now spending $100,000,000 a year on aircraft.

JAPANESE PARLIAMENT BUILDING BURNS

First picture of the fire which destroyed the diet building in Tokio on Sept. 18 to reach this country. The fire threatened the entire business district.

Gen. Summerall then read into the record a number of the actual telegrams and reports of the use of the aviation in the last war, stating that he wished to show the committee the absolute necessity of aviation to an army.

My conception of warfare is slightly different from that of some of the visions of warfare which have been presented before this committee," he said. "In deciding what is to be done in the next war we must first go back to the last war, consider its lessons, and then consider the new improvements that have come up since that time, and determine their possibilities in case of another war."

Backbone Is Infantry.
"War is a merciless thing. It knows only force. All illusions disappear in front of the actuality of war. If you make a mistake it is too late to correct. From my observations, the next war will be fought as it has been fought in the past. The infantry will be the backbone of the offense and the backbone of the defense."

When war comes we will probably be unprepared, as we have been in other wars. We will have to assemble our forces and meet an attack at one point or we may have to disperse them to protect many points. In every case we must fight a war successfully with the army under one commander and the artillery under another. We must have unity of command.

Won't Attack Women.
"In the next war, there will be no attack on women. In civilized warfare, and that is the only kind we will fight, undefended cities on the battle line will not be attacked. We will not kill women and children. No enemy will do that and win victory. What will happen is that every element, the air, artillery, infantry, and all the forces of our nation, will be united to get superiority over the enemy's army. The objective is always the enemy's army."

Touching on the possible conquest of this country by an air power, Gen. Summerall asserted that no army can invade another country by air. "An army must come by land," he declared. "In these days of so much aviation we are likely to expect too much from the air forces of the country. They cannot do the impossible."

Praises Hawaii Flyers.
Explaining his methods in training aircraft, he said he always trained the combat groups for aggression. Then he went on to praise the present air force in the Hawaiian Islands as very efficient, probably the most efficient in the world.

As to our future policy, Gen. Summerall stated that he believed aircraft should be developed more in this country and that more money should be spent in bringing this branch of the defense up to full strength. This, however, he said, is an economic question and one that must be dealt with by congress. He advocated that all branches of the army be developed in a balanced manner, stating that while a separate air force would be bringing more money to the air service it would hurt the other branches.

Reads Long Statement.
Gen. Drum appeared before the committee during the afternoon and again in the evening. He began his testimony by reading a 20,000 word statement in which he gave a résumé of the army's administration of the air service and then made a strong case for a continuation of the present system.

Declaring the salient principles of the war department's policies are based on "common sense," and not on sensation, Gen. Drum declared that the "air force" principle and its application as recently proposed by the chief of the air service and other service officers is unsound from a national defense viewpoint, as well as from purely army considerations.

"At the present time and so far into the future as can be foreseen, air force has no function independent of the army and the navy," he said. "The establishment of a separate air force cannot be justified on any grounds."

Must Strike in Air.
Gen. Patrick declared that in actual warfare a nation to win must have an air force powerful enough to strike a paralyzing blow, and that such a force could best be developed under his system.

Gen. Patrick denied the attack made on the air service management of expenditures yesterday by Chairman Martin B. Madden (Rep., Ill.) of the house appropriations committee, asserting there was no "criminal waste" in his department.

Gen. Patrick stated that France has now 26,000 officers and men in its air service; England, 32,000; Italy, 11,000; Japan, 8,000; and the United States 15,000. France, he said, has 1,500 service planes in use and 4,000 in reserves. England has 1,000, no reserve figures; Italy, 800 and 820 in reserve; Japan, 800, one-half of which are out of date, and the United States army air service 1,025.

The general stated that at the present time there are airplanes which can fly across and attack our coast.

ESTHONIAN PORT

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The admiralty has received a report that at dawn on Oct. 8 a soviet submarine was observed taking soundings in the channel between the islands of Nargen and Wolf, at the entrance to the Esthonian port of Reval. When challenged from the fortifications at Nargen, the submarine ran up signals that it had only taken shelter from the stormy weather in the Gulf of Finland; but, when a patrol was sent out to investigate, the undersea craft disappeared in the mist. The submarine was of an old pre-war type and was built in Petrograd. The action seems unnecessarily provocative, as, these having been Russian waters before the war, charts ought to be in the possession of the Russian admiralty.

MOTHER LOYAL TO DURKIN, BUT DREADS CAPTURE

Would Bar Him from Home
if He Returned.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
If Martin Durkin, for whom the police of a nation are searching in connection with the murder of Federal Agent Edward C. Shanahan, were to come to his mother's door and say, "Ma, can I stay here all night?" Mrs. Hattie Durkin would refuse him sanctuary, she explained yesterday, between sobs, as she sat at the South Clark street police station, where she was temporarily detained for questioning by Chief of Detectives William Schenck.

And this action, the mother argued, wouldn't be because she didn't love her only son; but rather because she was too much to see him killed before her eyes.

Still Loves Her Son.
"God knows I love Marty!" said the forty year old woman ever so fervently. "He's always been a wonderful son to me. He was a fine little boy. Then the war came. He was only sixteen, as he said he'd rather get shot to pieces than be a slacker. So he enlisted and went to France. All the time he was in his ears and everything must have done something to him."

Visualizes His Capture.
Ever since 9 o'clock Sunday night, when the police took Mrs. Durkin into custody and told her that "they're going to kill Marty when they catch him," his mother, she says, has been unable to shut the scene of his capture from her sight.

"All night long in the police station," she declared yesterday, "I've prayed to the Lord that if they find Marty and shoot him they do it quickly and get it over."

She is crying now, and she moans: "They say that I'm hard. They are telling all kinds of things about me. I'm nearly crazy with all of this. I've always tried to bring my family up right. Marty went to grammar school and had a while at high school."

Denies Gifts from Marty.
"They try to say that my nice home, and even my automobile, was given to me by Marty and that he had stolen them. Those are nasty lies. I have the bill of sale for all my furniture. I bought the automobile from my brother-in-law. I have the bill of sale for that, too. Why, Marty's father and I wouldn't take a thing that wasn't ours. I'd rather starve, and I mean just what I say—I'd rather starve than have something stolen."

Back again to the possibility of her son's rushing home for a hiding spot. "If my boy should come to the door and say, 'Ma, I want to hide here from the cops,' I'd have to ask him not to come in. That's because I love him and it would kill me to see him in a mixup before my eyes. No, if it has to be, I pray God it's away from my sight, and quick. O, I hope it's quick."

Weeps as She Tells Story.
Again the youngish, good looking woman with the black hair, the black eyes, and the refined manner is crying. "I guess I could stand this ordeal better, only I'm sick. I was in an automobile accident a few weeks ago. See, I had to have eight stitches taken in my

EMPLOYMENT SHOWS SEPTEMBER INCREASE IN AUTO, STEEL TRADES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Employment in several of the major industries of the country showed an increase during September, a bulletin issued today by the United States employment service of the department of labor, says.

It would seem that the overworked word, "saturation" has lost its meaning in its relation to the automobile industry, the bulletin says. "A further improvement was noted in the last thirty days and if increased employment in the industry is any indication the peak has not yet been attained."

The large increase in freight traffic has stimulated employment in railroad circles. Railroad repair shops, although not all running on full time schedules, increased working hours and forces in practically every large railroad center during the month.

The iron and steel industry, which showed gain in August, made additional gains during the month under review and all indications point to further expansions. The textile industry has worked itself into a more favorable position and the future for this industry looks brighter.

my lip. They say mothers should never cry. I try not to, but it's awfully hard."

Back in the cell, Mrs. Durkin, quietly, unostentatiously, is trying to care for a woman who has been brought in helplessly drunk. The woman has a baby coming soon, and Mrs. Durkin pleads with her to leave liquor alone arguing thiswise:

"Think of your baby. Think of how fine you want that baby to be. Aren't you willing to do everything you can for your children?"

And then, thinking once more of that scene when, and if they capture Marty Durkin, dead or alive, she leaves off consoling the other woman and bites her lips to keep from crying.

ELLSWORTH GIVES $100,000 FUND FOR POLAR FLIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
OSLO, Norway, Oct. 13.—The Norwegian Aero club announces that Lincoln Ellsworth, one time Chicago resident, who participated in the attempted flight to the pole last summer, has given $100,000 for Capt. Raold Amundson's projected airship flight to the pole. The expedition will cost 1,500,000 kroner ($300,000) of which one-third is being given by Mr. Ellsworth.

The rest will be obtained by profits from lectures, books, films, and the like, concerning this year's flight. Mr. Ellsworth made a condition that he be the only American to participate. He will act as leader of the scientific work and will be navigator with Lieut. Dietrichson. Only one reporter will go. Workers have sailed for Svahard to construct a big hangar, costing 300,000 kroner.

Water Runs a Foot Deep in Cordova, Alaska, Streets
Cordova, Alaska, Oct. 13.—(P)—Water ran a foot deep in the main street of Cordova yesterday. Rainfall since Oct. 1 has totaled 23.7 inches, and 2 inches of rain fell in eight hours Sunday night. The Copper River and Northwestern railway, running inland from here to Kennecott, was unable to move trains from Cordova. The bank of the Copper river, along which the road runs, was eaten away. Landslides swept away two houses.

RIFFS' ALLY, RAIN, SMASHES FRENCH MOROCCAN DRIVE

Poilus and Spaniards Peg
Down Line for Winter.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
FEZ, French Morocco, Oct. 13.—The war in Morocco is over for the winter so far as further major operations by the French and Spanish armies are concerned. Abdel Krim's most able ally, the weather, has put down a barrier of rain, mud and swollen rivers between the opposing forces, holding them on the present line which in all probability will remain stable until gentle spring ushers in a new season of carnage.

I have just returned to Fez from the northeast terminal of the French advanced line where I was marooned for four days with a brigade of cavalry by an almost impassable mire. It required a three days' struggle against racing mountain torrents and seas of mud and the employment of varying means of transportation, from camel riding to plain "hoofing it," to reach the base here.

Cavalry Raid Riff Lines.
Despite the terrific difficulties to be surmounted, the French cavalry, mostly Algerian and Moroccan irregulars, executed brilliant raids far into the enemy lines, hooking up the French line with newly occupied Spanish posts and bringing the allied position to a point twenty-five miles south of Adir, where it will be stabilized on the Kert river.

The allied forces encountered only slight resistance from the Berbers, but the forwarding of large quantities of supplies necessarily has been delayed seriously, owing to the difficult conditions. Reduced rations have been resorted to, and plans are now on foot for experimenting with aerial transportation on a larger scale than ever attempted before. Supply officers are discussing the erection of large rope nets at the advanced bases so that low flying airplanes can drop cases of food and fodder without stopping.

Moor Forces Held Center.
The French troops are now holding positions well inside the Spanish frontier and far north of the line on which the Spaniards rested last spring when Krim launched his attack against the French. The French liaison with the Spaniards makes it possible for the former to get emergency supplies by railroad out of Melilla. Opposed to their successes on both flanks, the center sector has not been advanced far north of the Ouergha, where Krim's forces occupy territory wrested from the French in April.

Four-fifths of the posts captured from the French have been recovered, and more than a half the tribes which joined Krim's legion have returned and are begging the French for protection. All reports indicate serious tribal disturbances behind Krim's lines, and there are indications that new overtures of peace are imminent.

No Fear of Invasion.
The civilian administration behind the French lines in Morocco is undergoing a slight change, due to the departure of Marshal Lyautey and the expected arrival of M. Steeg, the new resident general, but confidence is prevailing on all sides that the menace of a further invasion, at least this winter, is nonexistent.

French Repulse Counter Drive.
FEZ, French Morocco, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Riffians today made a counter attack against Sidi Bouroukha, the position 12 miles south of Adir captured last week by French cavalry. French reports say the attack was beaten off with heavy losses for the enemy.

ZEPPELIN WORKS MAY MAKE BABY RATTLES SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BERLIN, Oct. 13.—The Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen will be converted into a plant for manufacturing cooking utensils or even novelties such as baby rattles, unless the German people furnish sufficient funds for the proposed super-Zeppelin for polar exploration purposes, according to a speech by Dr. Hugo Eckener, head of the plant, at Hamburg tonight.
"We have the most efficient force of engineers and workmen in the world for Zeppelin construction, and we must hold them together so that when the allies lift the ban on German Zeppelin construction we can again take our place in this important development of air transportation," Dr. Eckener said.
"America's Shenandoah cost as many dollars as the Los Angeles did marks. Our equipment, trained staff, and experience enable us to produce the best ships at the lowest costs. My ideal would be to construct the proposed craft, but money is necessary?"

Strikers Protest Death of Member in Raid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BALBOA Canal Zone, Oct. 13.—Panama City was much calmer today following the arrival of United States troops to suppress disorders arising from riots of workers protesting against high rents. Business has been resumed, but clubs and saloons were tightly closed and sealed by the doughboys.

Strikers Placard City.
Strikers sympathizing with the movement for lower rents posted the following notices around the city:
"General Society of Workers, Comrades: We must assist at the funeral of Damion Babera, who last night was the victim of foreign bayonets here, with the consent of our government. Meet at 20 West Seventh street at 8 p. m."

U. S. Starts Inquiry.
Brig. Gen. C. H. Martin, in command of the forces occupying the city, said that an investigation was being made and the posters were being torn down. Col. John W. Heavey, in command of the 33d Infantry, encamped in Panama, said that he would be present at the funeral of Babera, who was killed while jumping from the red headquarters during a raid yesterday.

ACCUSED, ACCUSEE BOTH FINE.
Thomas Allen, 45 and colored, was fined $100 by Judge John J. Leis yesterday on charges that Allen received $200 to fix a gambling charge. John W. Johnson, the accuser, was fined a similar amount.

APPEALS COURT UPHOLDS DEVER LICENSE POLICY

Mayor Dever's action in revoking licenses of drink emporiums that cheat on Volstead by dispensing stuff with a kick has been sustained by the Appeals court, the city hall learned Monday.

Decisions upholding the mayor and reversing writs of mandamus of the Superior court were rendered in two of the fifty appeals the city law department has taken to the higher court. These places are operating under the writs in defiance to the mayor. About 150 similar cases are pending in the local courts.

The cases in which the Appellate court reversed the Superior court were those against Anton Libelakis and Joseph K. Bell, who obtained writs from Judges Steffen and Eller.

43,883 CENSUS ESTIMATE STIRS EVANSTON'S IRE

Evansonians yesterday pook-pooked the United States bureau of the census, which unburdened itself of the opinion that their city has 43,883 inhabitants.
R. P. Mengel, secretary of the chamber of commerce, asserted that the bureau was nearly 15,000 off in its guess.

R. L. Polk & Co., who publish the Chicago city directory, estimated in January that Evanston's population was 56,845, he said. "Changes since then give an increase of 1,575. The number of people in Evanston now is 58,420."

The postoffice estimated that there were more than 60,000, including Northwestern university students.

A. F. OF L. FIRES BROTHERHOOD OF RAILWAY CLERKS

Suspends for Row with Teamsters' Union.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, with a total membership of 31,200, today was suspended from the American Federation of Labor unless, within the next thirty days, it transfers to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters all drivers, chauffeurs, stable men and garage employees heretofore under the jurisdiction of the clerks. The vote to suspend was on a roll call, 23,845 to 3,395.

In a signed statement given to the press, after the convention had adjourned, five of the six delegates of the railway clerks declared they would decline to give up jurisdiction. Further the statement asserted that in the opinion of the signers the executive council of the federation of the clerks would give up its charter in the American Federation of Labor permanently rather than surrender jurisdiction.

President E. H. Fitzpatrick of San Francisco, of the clerks, did not sign the statement, but the signers said he approved of it.

The matter came to a vote as a culmination of a long jurisdictional feud between the unions. The last convention of the federation at El Paso recently tried to adjudicate the trouble. During the last year the executive council also tried, without success, to bring about an agreement.

RIFLE SQUADS HUNT DURKIN IN INDIANA TOWNS

Schoemaker and Stege Both in the Chase.

Two squads from the detective bureau sped at sixty miles an hour into Indiana last night in search of Martin Durkin who killed Edward C. Shanahan, an agent of the U. S. department of justice. Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker commanded one of the squads and Capt. John Stege led the other.

Six men were in each car and so were six rifles. A plentiful supply of gas bombs were taken by the detectives as the yells.

Just where they went and on what information were kept secret. A long distance telephone call brought the busy departure.

Hopes to Get Martin Durkin. All that was said by Chief Schoemaker was that he hoped to bring back Marty Durkin, dead or alive. It was regarded as likely that any great effort would be made to take Durkin alive if he was, as the detectives hoped, cornered.

Word had been received during the day that Durkin was supposed to be somewhere in the vicinity of Mishawaka, Griffith, Wheatfield, and South Bend, all Indiana towns and near each other. That vicinity was familiar to him as a youth, before he came to Chicago.

Detectives in and near these towns were searching for Durkin. Appeals had been broadcast from twelve radio stations in Chicago to spare no efforts to find him.

Federal Detectives Busy. The government detectives were busy telegraphing and in automobiles yesterday doing their part in the hunt.

United States District Attorney John A. Olson assigned his best men to the case. Chief of Detectives Schoemaker is specially active because his subordinates, Sergis, Michael Naughton, Chris Horman, and James Babitt had Durkin almost within their grasp on Sunday. But Durkin eluded them and killed Shanahan that same day. Chief Schoemaker deplored his men's error in leaving Shanahan alone to watch the garage where Durkin came and where the murder occurred.

District Attorney Olson designated his assistant, Otto Kolar, to work with the state's attorney's office in bringing Durkin to a speedy trial when he is taken. An indictment will be voted as soon as the inquest is over, which probably will be today.

TAX HIGH COURT FINDS WHITE CITY MADE 1920 ERROR

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The board of tax appeals today approved the decision of the commissioner of internal revenue, that the White City Electric company of Chicago acted prematurely in writing off a bad debt in 1920 the sum of $18,400 owed by the Midway Gardens and disallowing to the Ederheimer Stein company, also of Chicago, the deduction of a reserve for discounts allowable to its customers.

The ruling was that "a creditor who enters into an arrangement with other creditors under which the debtor's property is placed in the hands of a trustee with the understanding that each creditor is to participate proportionately in the operation or final disposition of the debtor's property, is not under the revenue act of 1918 entitled to write off the claim in a bad debt until the security has been exhausted."

The Midway Gardens in 1915 was indebted to a number of creditors, $20,000 of it to the White City Electric company. One payment was made, reducing the White City company's claim to $18,000, and in 1920 this amount was charged off by the company as a bad debt.

Hunt Three for Shooting of One in Gun Battle

Warren avenue police are searching for three men known as Marty Gilroy, Harry Martin, and Martin Murphy, said to have police records, in connection with the shooting early yesterday of George Hess, 24, 945 West 18th street. According to the police, the shooting took place when Hess stepped from an auto in which, it is believed, he was being "taken for a ride" and engaged in a gun battle with his companions. Hess is in a serious condition at the Bridewell hospital, with a bullet wound near the head.

WARNS YOU'LL BE FAT FOREVER, IF YOU TRUST CURES

Diet Doctor Brands Them Quackery.

Madame Stylis Stout, the jig is up. You and your Friend Husband, who have been under the fond delusion that you could wash, eat, or rub away those irritating extra pounds of avoirdupois, have been, in the phraseology of Dr. Arthur J. Cramp, director of the bureau of investigation of the American Medical association, kidded by experts. You have been dancing while an army of quacks addled.

Dr. Cramp's statements yesterday were the feature of the afternoon program of the American Dietetic association at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Earlier speakers had discussed the obesity problem from the viewpoint of heredity, dietetics, advancing age, and the hypofunctioning of the thyroid gland.

Little Known of Cause or Cure. Actually, little is known of the cause of obesity, declared Dr. Solomon Strouse of Michael Reese hospital, who has directed numerous experiments in the search for a cure. Not much more has been discovered as to successful treatment, he added.

Then it was that Dr. Cramp, speaking with the authority of twenty years' investigation of unethical medical practice and doubtful medical products, took the stand and showed just what sort of an amateur Barnum really was.

The string bean, hipless, boyish figure of Dr. Cramp, who demanded of her devotees these latter seasons, he declared, has been a wonderful stimulus to this branch of quackery. And invariably it is the under-exercised and overfed heavyweight who thinks that somewhere there must be a panacea which, without effort on her part, will permit her to achieve such a figure.

Hike at Obesity Cures. "Nowadays," said Dr. Cramp, "any one, apparently, can get rich by selling pink dishwater as a fat reducer. The facts are that practically all of the so-called obesity cures, except those dangerous products that contain desiccated thyroid, are simply shrewd schemes for fooling the obese. The trick lies in getting those who purchase to eat much less than they would ordinarily, and to exercise at the same time. Fat persons are simply being kidded by experts."

In his sweeping denunciation of these "cures" he included all of the mechanical devices, chemical substances for internal and external use, and the so-called reducing breads under subdivisions of which he named pastes and soaps, reducing bath salts, tablets, pills, capsules, and powders to be taken internally, and even "reducing chewing gum."

"If you want to reduce you must exercise," he concluded, "and diet, watching the calories. It's the only way."

BROKER WOUNDS BROTHER; LOOP THROUG WATCHES

Edwin H. West, 30 years old, 7639 Eastlake terrace, former candidate for alderman from the Forty-ninth ward and an operator on the Chicago Board of Trade, was shot and slightly wounded by his brother, Alfred K. West, 33, also a broker, who lives with Edwin at the Rogers Park address.

Considerable excitement was caused among loop pedestrians by the shooting, which took place on the street in front of E. Lowitz & Co., brokers, at 123 South La Salle street. Alfred attempted to escape in his automobile, but was seized by Lionel Beamer, 4639 Vernon avenue, and held until the arrival of Traffic Policeman Michael Collins.

Questioned by Acting Captain David Flynn of the traffic division, West admitted the shooting, which he said was the climax of a quarrel over $200 started in the office of E. Lowitz and continued out on the street.

POLAND FACING CHAOS; TRIES TO PAWN MONOPOLY

Offers Tobacco Trade to U. S. Banks for Loan.

BY DONALD DAY.

(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune.) RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 13.—Poland is trying to pawn its state monopolies for a loan. Premier Grabki, who has been making a fight to balance the Polish budget and stabilize the currency, is now negotiating with a group of New York bankers who are in Warsaw for a large loan, with the tobacco monopoly as security.

Premier Grabki has been trying to peddle the Polish monopolies to other European countries, without results. The premier places a high price on the concessions. It is reported that he is asking a $100,000,000 long term loan in exchange for the tobacco monopoly. Even Czechoslovakian and Austrian bankers, bolstered up by American capital, feel strong enough to loan Poland money. This group demands the vodka monopoly, the best money producer in Poland today. The Polish government also is offering large tracts of forests in exchange for loans, but with no takers.

Polish Banks Hard Pressed. Many Polish banks are unable to pay their creditors, according to Latvian banks, which have been trying to do business with Poland and have lost large sums. Money transfers which they made to Polish banks have not been paid, and collections the Polish banks made for them in Poland have not been remitted. Latvian bankers say. The total outstanding claims of the Latvian state bank and private banks against Polish banks aggregate nearly $1,000,000.

A director of the Latvian state bank who has just returned from a trip of investigation in Warsaw, reports it is impossible for Latvia to do further banking business with Poland. He says Premier Grabki promised him that the Polish banks would settle their claims within three or four months.

Poland recently raised its import restrictions on Latvian goods, and the Latvians now threaten a customs war similar to the one German is waging on Poland and which is one of the reasons for the present Polish crisis.

Large Army Blamed. All Poland is at present in financial and economic chaos, due to Poland's attempt to maintain one of the largest armies in Europe and its foreign policy, which has antagonized all the neighboring countries. The only country Poland professes to be friendly with is the Russian soviet government. This friendship is a fortnight old.

Premier Grabki, who is considered Poland's strong man, is planning to save the country from economic collapse by forming an economic dictatorship through a committee consisting of three or five members. According to Warsaw papers arrived here today, it is suggested that an economic conference be called in Warsaw, with the principal Polish manufacturers and financiers taking part, to appoint the economic council for one year. The council's powers would supplant those of the parliament.

URGES CITY MAN TO STUDY JP ON FRIEND FARMER

City business men need to get better acquainted with the modern farmer, according to E. T. Meredith, former secretary of the United States department of agriculture, who spoke at the Association of Commerce's advertising council luncheon held as a part of the farm food conference at the La Salle hotel yesterday.

Success and failures in business parallel ups and downs in agriculture, and it would pay the business man to study the farmer's conditions and needs, Mr. Meredith said. He based his talk on a survey he recently made to find out what the farmer eats. Fifty-five thousand answered the questionnaire and it was revealed that the farmer's appetite is much like the city man's.

For example, 68 per cent of them eat peanut butter, 32 per cent buy canned tomatoes, 23 per cent eat canned beans, and 57 per cent, canned corn.

KID WEIL WANTS REST; DENIES HE'S GOING TO EUROPE

Yellow Kid Weil needs a rest. Not a nerve racking vacation at the seashore. Not a strenuous shooting expedition in the northern wilderness. Not a jaunt through the capitals of the Old World. He said reports that he intended going to Europe are without foundation. The several cases pending against him would alone prevent the trip, his friends assert.

Just a lengthy, undisturbed siesta in a quiet retreat of his own making is the Yellow Kid's idea of what's good for him at this stage of his whiling career.

"I'll be a little fat somewhere on the north side," declares the Kid. "I want to creep away some place and just rest."

DIES FROM SLEEP POTION OVERDOSE. Mrs. Mary Barbour, 35, of 736 Waveland avenue, wife of W. B. Barbour of Putney, W. Va., died at the County hospital yesterday as the result of an overdose of a sleeping medicine which she took on Monday.

FASCIST MURDER OF MASONS STIRS PARTY SHAKEUP

Mussolini May Punish

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, Oct. 13.—A shakeup in the Fascist party is foreshadowed by an inquiry started today. It may result in the repudiation of the "disorderly members" and in energetic action by the government in punishing those guilty of the murder of three Masons in Florence and of breaking into the Scottish Rites lodge here on Sunday night.

Sig. Farinacci, secretary general of the Fascist party and the biggest man in the party outside Premier Mussolini, has issued an order declaring homes and "offices of orders," whether of Masons or not, must be held sacred and inviolable.

Blames Infiltration of Foes.
He maintains there have been infiltrations of adversaries into the ranks of the Fascist who are creating disorders to discredit the party. He has sent Sig. Balbo, former chief of the Fascist militia, to Florence to investigate the responsibility of the Fascist in the trouble, while the government also is preparing action.

Sig. Balbo has been warned not to commit reprisals that are not authorized. Nine persons arrested here in connection with the disorders of Sunday are still in jail.

Not Pleased at Baldwin.
ROME, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Far from ordering a diplomatic protest against Premier Baldwin's allusion to Italy in his recent speech at Brighton, Premier Mussolini seems pleased at the British statesman's reference to him as a dictator.

"Mr. Baldwin said nothing about a dictatorship being unsuitable for Italy; he merely made the observation that it would not be tolerated in England," said Sig. Mussolini. "I do not take his remarks as a slur on Italy or as being said with intention of casting a slur."

In his speech at the annual conference of the Conservative party at Brighton last Thursday, Premier Baldwin said: "I have been told that the country wants a Mussolini, but the English will never tolerate a dictator. When the party wants to change its leader I'll step down, but not until then."

SAILORS' LANDMARK RAZED.
Every maritime authority in the world has been notified of the demolition of a certain factory chimney at Northfleet, England. The huge chimney was used in taking bearings by pilots ascending the Thames and was marked on all charts.

APPROVE NEW MEDICAL SCHOOL RESEARCH PLAN

The trustees of the University of Chicago Monday announced their approval of a new program of the Rush Medical college, which will enable students and physicians already practicing to carry on research work.

The virtual completion of the Rawson Laboratory of Medicine and Surgery, the erection of which was made possible by Frederick H. Rawson, Chicago banker, will expedite the early inauguration of the program. The building, located at West Harrison and Wood streets, is to be fully equipped for research work.

An announcement yesterday said that the idea of the postgraduate plan is "to offer opportunity for study and investigation by graduate physicians who are willing to spend from one to three years in preparing themselves either for practice or teaching or to continue investigation."

Fall Exhibition & Selling of

Oriental Rugs

Again proves that here you get a little more quality—at a little less price

Never before has Pushman's ability to provide you with Oriental Rugs of quality and character—for less than the prices prevailing elsewhere—been so thoroughly demonstrated.

For no matter what kind of a rug you want—for a large or odd sized room, down to a small mat, and no matter whether you wish to spend thousands of dollars or only $15 or $20—you will find complete selections of choice rugs here. And a comparison of qualities and prices will prove our values cannot be equaled.

Pushman Bros. is the oldest and largest Oriental Rug concern in the Middle West—and one of the biggest in the entire country. For more than 35 years we have enjoyed the most intimate friendships and business relations with all the worthwhile rug operators in the Orient. So it is natural that we usually get first choice of their offerings.

On the other hand, our ability to buy often and for cash gives us a "price advantage" enjoyed by few concerns. While our big volume of sales permits us to operate on a smaller margin than is usual in this business.

But we don't ask you to take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself. Study the rugs you see elsewhere and compare qualities and prices with those you see here. Your own eyes will tell you that Pushman's values cannot be equaled.

TRY TREATING THEM ROUGH.

Police Sergeant William Sweeney killed Mike Genna in the fight in which two policemen were killed and two Genna gangsters, Scialli and Anselmi, were captured. Scialli and Anselmi are on trial for murder and Serg. Sweeney is a state witness. He has been asked to testify that the gang of the police car was not run when the gangsters were chased and run down. If it was not run then the gangsters might be defended in court with the assertion that they did not know they were dealing with the police, but thought they were defending themselves against other gangsters who already had killed two of the Gennas.

Sweeney, it is reported, has been offered money if he will testify that the gang was not run and threatened with death if he does not. Monday night part of his home was blown up by a bomb explosion. He was not at the time, but his father, his brother, a policeman, and a friend, also a policeman, were.

That is going strong, even for Chicago criminals. Gangs often intimidate witnesses, but these gangsters are trying to intimidate the police. The chief of police and the police officers under him must know who wants to protect the two men on trial. If they do not know they ought to. They are supposed to have an undercover system, and ought to know at least as much about the gangsters as the gangsters know about them.

They ought to know the men who are trying to keep Scialli and Anselmi from being hanged and who are interfering with the trial. They ought to know who has raised money to defend them and who would be responsible as principals for the bombing attacks.

The principals are probably beyond the reach of the courts. It will be difficult enough to convict the two men caught in the gun fight in which the police were killed. If the police arrested men for the bomb case there would be another round of familiar lawyer tricks and nothing affecting the murder trial would result; but the police are not helpless.

In the Philippine war the American troops had trouble with wire cutters who would break the line of communication soon after it was stretched. Only apparently friendly natives were about and the soldiers couldn't find the cutters. It was made a rule that whenever a wire was cut the nearest house was burned. If it was cut again the village was burned. That stopped the cutting. Every householder was guarding the wires.

William Hale Thompson, when mayor, got mad because pickpockets were frisking the visitors at the Pageant of Progress on the Municipal pier. He told his chief of police, Charles Fitzmorris, that he wanted it stopped. Fitzmorris sent the police to take all the known pickpockets on the pier. They were not taken into court where their attorneys could help them and send them back to work. They were taken under the pier and whistled. They didn't come back.

Chief Collins could take a hint from his predecessor. The men who are threatening to murder or trying to murder police witnesses in this murder case could be taken in charge and given a ride. They could be turned loose after the police had handled them and told that the ride would be repeated if there was another attempt made against witnesses or any other attempt to interfere with the trial. It would work.

WESTERN RAILROADS AND AGRICULTURE.

Nothing else but a prosperous, stable, and developing agriculture will serve as a basis of permanent prosperity for the western railroads of the United States, says the head of the Illinois Agricultural association. Nothing else but a prosperous, stable, and developing transportation system will serve as a basis for the agriculture of the west, a railroad man might well say.

Both are right, and it is to be hoped they will recognize the interdependence of their prosperity and progress. Organized agriculture should help to obtain a constructive policy of railroad regulation, to replace a merely restrictive one its radical leaders favor. Railroad management, in response, should cultivate its perception of public needs and its opportunities of expanding service for the advancement of the general prosperity.

primarily for the graduates. That is why the seating capacity must be increased from year to year.

The graduates want more action than they are getting, something equivalent to the world series in baseball, a grand finale of competition between winning sectional teams—Yale, Northwestern, and California—if that is the way it turns out. Or Dartmouth, Nebraska, and Oregon. There should be a post-season smash after the superior sectional teams have been revealed and champions are indicated. Intersectional games now come too early to determine anything except by chance. They are good. The more of them the better, but the best arrangement will be in a scheme which keeps open dates for the meeting of winning teams, east, west, far west, and south.

That will more than ever keep the old grads looking up promising high school players and seeing that they get the right educational ideas early.

THE BRITISH TWILIGHT OR ONLY A CLOUD?

British board of trade reports again disquiet the island. Imports for September increased $30,000, 000 over August. Exports showed a decrease of $15,000,000. Coal exports were $10,391,000 under the exports of September, 1924, and the coal industry is now subsidized. British industry is not sustaining the life of the country, which is buying more abroad to meet its needs and producing less at home. The balance is growing against it.

Unemployment remains. The dole keeps the helpless elements of citizenship alive and punishes the citizenship which is still self-sustaining. The outlook is bad. The breed is stout hearted but it has not made the turn. Is there to be no turn? No great nation as yet has been lasting. Nations have had flashes of greatness or centuries of greatness, but none yet has had foundations for even the time of history.

These are not the first dark days for the British. They have had many of them and have come through stronger than ever. There were black days after the loss of the American colonies, but the British were strong enough to hang on to Napoleon later and to get him down in the end, only to go into more black days. They had black days when ladies and not ships were engaged the attention of Charles II. and when the Dutch were burning the shipping in the Thames. They had black days when the French were putting them out of Europe, later when the Spanish were threatening to overrun them.

They have been strong enough for their emergencies. They were strong enough for the Germans. There has been no particular reason for their greatness to be found in their habitat. There was no reason why a great empire should arise out of the island on one side of the channel and not out of France on the continent on the other side. The channel kept an invader from knocking at the door in the night without warning, but it also was something to cross when the British wanted to win colonies by fighting in the low countries. The island was not large enough to sustain a nation of great population. It has outgrown itself and the islander is stubborn. He does not want to break new land in Canada, Africa, or Australia. His pro-consuls go abroad, not his colonists, and yet he is the greatest colonial administrator.

The island is in bad times. Some day the British will be in their recession. We do not know what the world will be like then or when it will be, but whenever it is they were good while they lasted and they lasted a long time.

THE FOURTH AMENDMENT ALSO EXISTS.

The United States Supreme court has handed down a decision protecting the citizen in his home. Federal agents, who had not taken the trouble to swear out a warrant, had forced their way into a dwelling in Brooklyn, and there had found a can of cocaine. They seized the cocaine and arrested the man in whose house it was found. He was sentenced to prison under the Harrison anti-narcotic law, but now the Supreme court has set him free.

The protection of the fourth amendment, the court found, extends to those justly suspected as well as to the innocent. "Save in certain cases incident to arrest," the decision notes, "there is no sanction in the decision of the courts, federal or state, for the search of a private dwelling house without a warrant."

Recent years have seen a systematic attack upon the rights of the individual guaranteed in the first ten amendments. The desire to force prohibition upon an unwilling citizenry has led to the employment of methods which would have revolted the fathers of the constitution. The right of jury trial has been denied and unwarranted search has become almost a matter of routine. Perhaps with this decision the tide has at last turned.

Editorial of the Day

DANGEROUS WEAPONS FOR POOLS.
(Illinois State Register (Springfield).)

An automobile in the hands of a reckless or drunken driver becomes a deadly weapon fully as potent for destruction of human life as a revolver. If it is good policy to force the carrying of guns by those who are not qualified to use them for legitimate purposes, or those who only carry them to use them for unlawful purposes, how about restricting the use of automobiles to those only who can be trusted to use them properly?

In four weeks ending Sept. 12, fifty-seven cities reported 437 deaths due to automobile accidents, and the same 437 deaths cities reported 1,313 deaths due to the same cause from Jan. 1 to Sept. 12. In the latter period, the number of deaths reported from Chicago was 410; New York, 434; Philadelphia, 191; Detroit, 182; in Cleveland, and Los Angeles, 154 each.

Of course it does not follow that all of these fatal accidents were due to incompetent, reckless or drunken drivers, but many of them were, and these come under the classification of preventable accidents. While none of them may have been absolutely unavoidable, allowance must be made for human and mechanical imperfections.

Simplification and improvement of traffic regulations and devices for their enforcement and above all more vigorous prosecution and relentless punishment of drunken and reckless drivers are the obvious remedies.

The fool with an automobile is fully as dangerous as the fool with a gun.

COULD OTHER GIRLS.
"You don't remember me? How strange! After I rejected you last summer you were going to kill yourself."—London Mail.

SAVING TIME.

He—All right. What time will you be there?—London Mail.

How to Keep Well.

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed, Dr. Evans will make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

GLASSLESS WINDOWS.
His story is based on things seen during a vacation spent on a stock farm. One thing was a windowless chicken house. City people may not know that up to date chicken houses are well ventilated and have real glass windows. Up to date is the chicken raiser called these glass windowed, chicken houses until the new president of the University of Michigan, Dr. Lillie, pulled his club. When he got through with a glass window was found in the chicken house.

Dr. Lillie's house of 1925 has an open front and glassless windows. Dr. Lillie, however, advised that the up to date chicken house of 1926 has glass windows, but that the farm be supplied with an ultra-violet lamp. Each batch of growing chickens to be kept in a warm house behind glass, but that once every day a light treatment be given.

This advice is based on observations and experiments. Batches of young chickens were placed in special pens located in greenhouses; the heat was just right; the ventilation was perfect; the pens were clean; the chickens were well crowded, and their feeding was exactly right. There was plenty of sunlight in the greenhouse, but it had filtered through ordinary window glass. At 4 weeks of age the chickens were vigorous; at 4 weeks they began to show inability to walk; before long the chickens could not stand; a little later, death ensued.

The disease was rickets. A similar disease has been observed in cattle in certain districts in South Africa. However, in those South African regions the soil is poor in lime and phosphorus and the cattle feed does not supply enough of these ingredients. The chickens under experiment were fed plenty of lime and phosphorus. But they did not get enough ultra-violet light to fix the lime and phosphorus in their bones. When they were supplied the proper dose of light proper light by means of lamp light, all the chicks in the early stages of rickets recovered promptly and completely.

When celery grows in the open air the sunlight changes its sugar in the sap into woody fiber and aromatic substance called cellulose. But if celery is banked and sunlight cannot reach it, the sugar stays in the sap, there is but little woody fiber and the celery salt is not made.

The part of this story which concerns

Judge Carter would reduce the number of constables and change the system of paying them.

CHICAGO.—Wholesale milk dealers raised their prices 7 per cent and retail dealers are now giving fifteen quarts of milk for $1 instead of 16.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE LITTLE SONGS.

The little songs for singing
Are never far away,
I've found them through the long years
And they belong to me;
The honking geese on gray wings
Go coasting by today. . . .
My young heart is full of loves
Where only one should be.

The little songs for singing—
The little gypsy lays
(You have heard their foolish lilt,
A hundred times, I know);
My young heart is full of loves
Remembered all these days. . . .
I can't say good-bye to them
Or all my songs will go!

DONPARRAN.
WENT TO SEE What Price Glory? and was eaten by envy because the actors could walk around and cuss all they please, while in this Column of Piffle when we want to reproduce certain adjectives we have to say — It made us — mad to think of it — the luck. Oh — And chocolate caramels!

Did You Say a-Calling or Apalling?
Sir: Charles Warner in Sunday's Trib says: "Announcing is a new profession, made necessary by the rapid advance of radio," etc. May we point out to Mr. Warner that radio announcing is not a profession—it's a-calling.

Maybe He Doethn't Like Girls.
R. H. L.: I saw Mythogeny Thursday, I did. He thought about this occasion and told dithdairful and haughty he wath—with eyeth half closed to hide the firth thumoling within, Donatello wearing a Byronic cloak. I felt my Thapish blood leap in my veins and wath glad that I wore my betth clothes. Thuddehly he thaw me. I could tell that he guthed who I wath from the violent emotion reflected in his face. Oh it wath thad. All the proud dithdairf thipped away from his face, like a thurtled faun, he turned and fled. Love & Kitheth—

They'll Put You Out of Better Places Than That.
R. H. L.: I think Aunt Priscilly was a slay for saying that she did when she dropped her program at What Price Glory? Yuh otta heard me after I saw the show Monday night. They put me out of the Drake supper dance.

CHARLEY DAVES pinned a medal on a Boy Scout down in New Jersey yesterday. Thank goodness, we've heard from Charley at last. Now, then, where's that Prince of Wales? Those two boys are awful hard to keep track of.

PREVARICATOR!
Sir: Today I got across the street before the traffic cop blew the whistle!

Gadooks an' Gramercy! Garrie Be Ye Swelle Towns.
R. H. L.: I dislike to see you left out of things so. If you and your Line chums will come down to Gary I'll take you out to luncheon at "Ye Lott's Wiener Shoppe" right on Broadway, so Riq wath me smart about his porkie choppe. Ye prop missed a bet. He might have had "Ye Lott's Hotte Dogge Shoppe."

Ys QUEENS.
The Congressional Record.

Sir: It is said that a prophet has no honor in his own country, that a physician will not take his own medicine, and a restaurant owner goes out for his meals. What the heck does a column conductor read?

Cause and Effect.
Oh! Dick! Do you see the one your Inspired Reporter pulled? "Should our police department combat most seriously—bootlegging or crime?" He'd better steer clear of Yellowey—'sall I got to say.

LOOK OUT HIP-PICKER LICKERS. If you lick hip picker after tomorrow old man Yellowey's going to get you. No licking lick after the 15th. Hip, hip, hooray!

SO'S YOUR OLD MAN!
(Rig in his From Pillar to Post says that since he read our critique of Wills Cather's "Professor's Song" he is persuaded we would review "The Song of the Lark" in this way.)

We would like to punch anybody who takes the name of "The Song of the Lark" in the face. The drawing is good, but why did the artist make us look at a lazy girl who has stopped her honest farm work and wastes her time and that of her employer in a fool song? If he was working for us and we caught her laying down on the job like that we would give her a good swift spanking in the space reserved for Dono Myars.

But What About Us?
R. H. L.: That daze the Children's Bed Time Stories does not appear with their coffee, my children don't sleep a tail, they ak jus like this rabbit child. Now if you will raddilly Line Nite everie nite an always have Snoozy Al on yore programme we wud viv him his meels for nuthin.

WE'VE GOT A NEW secretary of war, young Mr. Davis. That's going to please 'em down in Tennessee. They'll think it's Jeff.

Then Cease Your Banalities.
R. H. L.: This Professor Sloppyness will be the ruin of me yet. The other evening at a dance I ran across a young lady whom I had not seen for some time and I said: "My, what a stunning dress you have on; you're getting better looking every day." "Oh," she said, "thank you, Prof." The doctor says that I will bear those four parallel marks on my cheek to my grave. El Chicrito.

THE WOES O' ME.
(Apologies to The Rosary.)

The first of every doggone moath
There comes a string of bills to me;
I count them over, every one apart,
In agony, in agony.

Each pecky bill a demon seems,
To take away my heart's delight;
I clutch my empty purse in vain, and then
The checks I write; the checks I write.

Oh, bills that dance before my eyes,
Through weary night until the dawn!
I pay each bill and in the end I find
I'm overdrawn! I'm overdrawn!

PAVE THE RIVER.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—The increasing expression, editorial and otherwise, of the fact that fixed bridges and ferries constructed across the Chicago river, if the downtown street traffic of the city is to be provided for, leads me to again call attention to a comprehensive plan for this river area presented in May, 1924, providing:

1. That lake and canal traffic be handled at the Municipal and other piers and in the Calumet river and lake.
2. That a street be built over the present Chicago river from the lake to 22d street and the north branch to Ordway avenue with possible further extensions.
3. That sewage disposal be made by the river flow or by intercepting sewers under street, the latter plan making possible railway tracks or subway street for freight traffic.

Such a street, two hundred feet wide, with fixed bridges crossing above it, would provide for traffic in both directions with no take this occasion and tell left hand turns. All property now backing on the unused river would front on this new street. Its center would provide storage for thousands of motor vehicles.

There would be no north, south, or west "sides" of the river. The downtown district would be united and extended with a minimum of surface construction. I continue to believe that this open space above the river in the heart of the city may be so developed as to provide the greatest possible means for handling our street surface traffic on plans commensurate with the tremendous growth of the city of Chicago.

THANK YOU.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 9.—I have been a reader of your paper for about thirty years, always living here in Nebraska. I want to thank this occasion to tell you that I very much appreciated seeing in the headlines of your paper in very bold type "Nebraska defeats Illinois 14 to 6." It simply tells me what I have always known, that Tex Tassure is the biggest and broadest paper published in America or any other country.

JOHN T. DORGAN.
SQUALOR.

Altadena, Cal., Oct. 6.—In passing through Chicago the other day, I felt personally disgraced and humiliated that my native city is so steeped in iniquity and graft that the streets, avenues and vacant lots are strewn with rubbish of ages. What must a foreigner think of our efficiency, when in their own cities not even a scrap of paper is seen on the streets? Every day is cleanup day in Europe.

We have thousands of unemployed that must be fed. They could have steady jobs keeping our cities clean if the grafters didn't spend money in such a manner. Every wooden shack should be razed to the ground and rows of two story brick houses should replace them. England has done this in all its manufacturing towns.

To see Heaven-sent children born and brought up in houses unfit for pigs and expect decent citizens to develop therefrom is hindsight, to say the least; and you can look there for the cause of "crime waves."

REBELLIOUS.
Chicago, Oct. 10.—The people of Chicago will not stand prohibition. The justice officials will not treat prisoners sentenced for liquor violations, as law breakers; you cannot get a jury to convict a person for this offense; and as for myself, I will continue to violate the law every time I feel like having a stimulant.

GEORGE F. GURLEY.
BACK FROM PARIS.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—During a recent trip to Europe I spent two weeks in Paris and was a caller at your Paris office nearly every day. The kind and courteous treatment that I received from your representatives there makes me feel that I would be neglecting a duty if I failed to tell you about it. The young man and the young ladies were most helpful to me in various ways, securing, among other things, the names of hotels that friends of mine were stopping in and giving me every opportunity to use your writing room and the American papers. Your advertising manager, whose name I have forgotten, was very kind and courteous and seems to be the right man for the place. All seemed to appreciate the fact that we foreigners came to them for assistance.

THOMAS E. GALLAGHER.
RACE PREJUDICE IN BUSINESS.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Your editorial on "The President on Tolerance" is great, and should be read by every business man in Chicago. Your suggestion to practice tolerance in business and in industry is excellent, but I doubt very much if such is being done by the majority of the merchants in this city.

There is hardly any room for creative development on the part of a foreigner in the greater number of the Chicago business houses. No matter how well cultured and however well educated he may be—if he happens to be a foreigner—he has not a chance against his American friends who, in many instances, may be less fitted for a certain kind of work than he is.

THE AIR MAIL

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads transport mail on their limited between Chicago and New York, and from center to center of those cities. By this service it is possible for business houses to depend on delivery in the opposite city within hours of mailing. This means a saving of one full day over normal railroad mail service as contracted. For this extra service the people are charged nothing.

In passenger transportation, however, these railroads do make a bonus charge of approximately 20 per cent in return for which they contract the quicker service. They penalize themselves to the extent of returning this bonus if and when they fail to earn it.

The government morally contracts to transport the mail, by air route, between these two cities at such speed as to obtain delivery in several hours less time than is possible via the rail route. For this exceptional service the government makes a bonus of 400 per cent over the normal postage rate. The attitude of the government towards its obligation is, however, quite unlike that of the railroads. It collects its bonus in advance and keeps it, whether earned or not, judging from our experience and from comment of others, it is more often not earned than otherwise. We duplicate our mail and hope for the best.

It seems to me that the government should find a way of returning these earned funds. The effect might be good upon the service and upon those served. L. F. WILSON.

THE HARD LOT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

Chicago, Oct. 12.—I am quite sure that Larry S. Lee has the wrong idea of the condition of the high school pupils. I have been attending high school for three and one-half years and I do not find so many leisure hours to indulge in playthings. After four and one-half hours of hard school I arrive at home about 6 o'clock. Gulping down bits of lunch and finding myself engrossed in my homework, I find that I have so much to do that I don't find the day or even the night long enough to finish all of my work. Very seldom do I have spare time to run to the movies. I think that some home work should be lessened so that the worthy pupils may get some spare time to be used in amusement. MARIE HIGGS.

DISAGREEING WITH HUGHES

Chicago, Oct. 9.—I am writing this letter to ask you how The Tribune can report such a writer as Hugh Fullerton as an important sport event as the world's series. I believe when a fan reads an account of a game he wants to know the facts just as the game was played, and the writer's opinion as to how it could have been played. Mr. Fullerton's account of the second game, where he claims Pittsburgh won purely on luck, shows him so partial to Washington that he gives credit where credit is due. I claim it is real baseball when a pitcher can pitch himself out of situations such as Aldridge did with two outs and no one out. HARRY G. MARTENS.

WAR ON TO BEAT DRY VOTE SOLONS SEATED BY WETS

Volstead Foes Take State Referendum as Test.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The National Association Opposed to Prohibition yesterday launched its Illinois campaign to defeat all legislators who represent wet districts but who vote dry in Springfield and Washington.

As the basis for declaring a county a dry district the association takes the 1922 state-wide vote on beer and wine and refutes the claims of the Anti-Saloon league that the vote did not represent the sentiment of the people of Illinois.

This vote was 1,065,242 for and 512,111 against modification of the prohibition laws, or a majority of 55,131 for beer and wine.

Claim Vote Proves Nothing.
Leaders of the organized dries, including F. Scott McBride, national superintendent, and Frank B. Ebbert, state superintendent, repeatedly have asserted that the vote did not mean anything, because they told their following not to recognize the proposition even by voting against it.

But the modificationists came right back with figures to dispute the question. The vote on beer and wine, they show, was 92 per cent of the legislative vote. In twenty counties, including some of the largest, the beer and wine balloting was greater than the total vote on the head of the Republican and Democratic tickets combined.

In eleven counties it was 95 to 100 per cent, in 24 counties it was 90 to 95 per cent; in 53 it was 80 to 90 per cent, and in twelve of the smallest counties it was less than 80 per cent. In Cook county the beer and wine vote was 95 per cent of the highest legislative vote and 91 per cent of the vote for the head of the tickets.

Congressional District Returns.
Twenty-one of the twenty-four congressional districts and forty-three of the fifty-one senatorial districts voted for modification, the association report states.

The time has come, says State Director E. Thiele, when the people of Illinois should see that their legislators speak for the folks at home rather than for the Anti-Saloon league, on the prohibition question. A vigorous campaign to present the wet and dry records of all congressmen and legislators to their constituents has been started. The association is distributing copies of these records throughout the state.

"This dishonest measure," says the report, speaking of the Volstead act, "asserts that a mixture of 199 parts of water and one part of alcohol constitute intoxicating liquor—a manifest lie. Prohibition has failed because it is based on false principles. It has failed because it strikes at fundamental human rights which men will not surrender. It has failed because it opposes the designs of the Creator, who placed a potential glass of wine in every cluster of grapes."

The most the people of Illinois ever did to impose prohibition on themselves was through local option, the report adds.

YELLOWLEY USES AX ON SLOWER MOP SWINGERS

Honest Service Is Not Enough, He Says.

Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley, in handing out blue envelopes yesterday, revealed a dry agent must have more than an honest heart, an open countenance, and a willing nature to make good in the revamped prohibition department.

"Some of the boys who are getting the air today," Mr. Yellowley said, in substance, "are as honest as the day is long, but they have been misfits in prohibition work. For that reason, I am going to spare them the embarrassment of making public a list of those who today have been dismissed from the service."

It became known, however, that the list of 14 who were decapitated contained many surprises. The same was true of the list of those retained.

Veterans Get the Gripe.
Among those who will be in new fields after tomorrow was one of the two veterans of the former Illinois dry forces who have been in prohibition work ever since the first few weeks of the Volstead era.

No reason was given for the dismissal of the veteran other than that it was "for the good of the service," it is said.

The list also included several agents who have been in the service for three years or more. While the records of these men were reported to have shown some stellar accomplishments, rumors of poor judgment in enforcement work were deemed of sufficient importance to warrant dismissal.

Politics Plays Little Part.
Politics, ballyhooed as the bugbear of matters wet and dry, apparently played little part in the discharges and retentions, it was pointed out. Some of those who were shoved out have been precinct captains in organizations supposed to be in places of vantage, while others who were retained "couldn't find a polling place on national election day," it is charged by critics.

Not all of the old timers who managed to hang on will be kept in Chicago, it was announced. They will invade new ground in the vicinity of Indianapolis, Springfield, and Milwaukee, now divisional headquarters in the Chicago zone. It was denied that transfer of the men carried any intimation that they had outlived their usefulness in Chicago, due to too wide acquaintance with genial bootleggers.

We Will Deliver and Erect This One-Car "Cellu-Seal" Garage, Painted and Complete with Cedar Posts. $159

Stronger—More Permanent

They are stronger, more permanent than any other garage because of their heavy construction and ingenious patented features from foundation to roof—warmer in winter and cooler in summer because they are "CELLU-SEAL" lined with our own patented exclusive all weather lining. A waterproof insulating board nearly 1/4 inch thick. Not just a load of rough lumber—no extras to pay for—no muss around the yard—no chance of disappointment when your garage is completed.

"QUICK-LOCK" Swinging Doors! "Roll-Away" Patented Doors!

For a limited time only we will furnish the "Cellu-Seal" Garage of your choice with the new patented roll-away doors or quick-lock swinging doors, as preferred. Be sure to specify which are wanted when you order. Roll-away doors yours without extra charge during this October sale. They are the result of years of study—hung on roller bearings with special cup and curves. Extra heavy combination hinges and hangers. Guaranteed weather tight and the life of the building.

Many prefer regular swinging doors. We now furnish a splendid new feature in the "Quick-lock"—the simplest, safest, and most satisfactory garage door lock on the market. Instantly locked from inside or outside. This equipment also includes strong steel overhead door holders.

Only Cellu Seal Can Give You—

1. A chance to examine your garage before you buy. All models on display at six naborhood showyards.
2. Extra heavy top and bottom wall plates.
3. Patented interlocking method of wall framing. Only No. 1 grade framing lumber.
4. Clear kiln dried Oregon fir siding.
5. Patented, extra heavy corner post construction.
6. Patented notch lock roof trusses—roof guaranteed to hold any snow load.
7. Matched and beaded roof sheathing.
8. Heavy slate surfaced roof, guaranteed A-1 quality.
9. Patented guaranteed no-sag garage doors, painted both sides.
10. Three key genuine YALE cylinder lock on service door.
11. Patented "QUICK-LOCK" on swinging doors or latest improved, patented Roll-Away doors.
12. All garages painted one good coat. Your "CELLU-SEAL" garage ordered today will be delivered and erected—ready to protect your car within the shortest possible time.

A dozen different styles in every size to match your home!

LOANS DOUBTFUL FOR EUROPEANS WHO DO NOT PAY

White House Emphasizes Debt Policy.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—This attitude of this government toward foreign loans is based in the broad economic principle, it was made known at the White House today that these nations which have settled their debts to the United States naturally will have better credit standing and, therefore, will be more likely to obtain loans than nations which have not made funding arrangements.

It is the belief of President Coolidge and the administration, according to a White House spokesman, that it is to the economic welfare of Europe to make debt settlements and as proof of this fact they point to the comparative ease with which nations that have funded their debts can secure loans and to the better terms and interest rates which they obtain as a result of such action.

No Legal Authority.
It was admitted that the government has no legal authority over the making of loans to foreign governments, but it was pointed out that where loans are to be floated by public subscription it has been the practice for American bankers to make inquiry of the state department as to whether there could be any objection to such loan.

The government, it was explained, does not attempt to pass on the question as to whether any particular loan is a good or bad investment, that being a matter for the individual investor to determine.

No mention was made at the White House today of any individual European nation and what was said there was not believed to have been aimed, in any direct sense, at least, at France, although certain reports during the last few days have indicated that loans which France was seeking to negotiate in this country probably must be delayed on account of that country's failure to reach a final agreement on debt funding.

But it was indicated at the White House that the question of foreign loans is one for the bankers to decide and if the latter are satisfied that the credit of the country seeking the loan is sufficiently secured the loan will be made.

France Sought Loan.
Negotiations for the loans sought by France were started several months before the Caillaux mission came to the United States, and are reported to have been intended mainly for railroad and municipal works, rather than for the government.

Every foreign loan must be considered on its own merits, in the opinion of President Coolidge, applying the general principle that it is the desire of the United States to help in the restoration of Europe; and that while it would not approve loans for military purposes it has been desirous to cooperate heartily with those countries which are doing what they can to settle their debts.

No Formal Request.
New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—While the French government for some time has been anxious to float a new loan of $100,000,000 in this country no formal request for new financing has been placed before its American bankers.

P. Morgan & Co., it was learned officially today, reports that negotiations for a loan had been abandoned because of France's failure to fund her war debt to the United States were declared to be unfounded.

Both French bonds and French francs were heavy in the local markets today on the announcement from Washington that further credit for foreign nations was dependent upon debt settlements.

CAILLAUX OPENS FIGHT FOR POST AS FRANC DROPS

Radicals Attack Budget Plan.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Finance Minister Caillaux came to grips with some of the French "die hards" today, beginning a conflict which political experts say will make his experiences in Washington seem pale in comparison.

M. Caillaux gave a résumé of the financial situation for the cabinet this morning and then presented himself for heckling before the finance committee of the chamber of deputies, which has just finished examining the appropriations for 1924 and now wants to know where the money is coming from.

Extreme radicals and Socialists are expected to demand a change of policy, substituting a capital levy for additional direct taxes.

As soon as the finance minister is "labeled" with the committee hearings he will leave for Nice, where, at the convention of the radicals, he will be placed under accusation of treason to the party. At least half of the radical party has been converted to the Socialist financial doctrine, and these are expected to demand that M. Caillaux be repudiated for financial heresy.

Opinion is about evenly divided as to whether M. Caillaux will weather the storm at the radical convention.

Franc Drops During Session.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, Oct. 13.—After holding steady throughout Finance Minister Caillaux's visit to America, the franc slipped downward today. The dollar rose to 21.98 francs at closing today.

The franc's fall occurred while M. Caillaux was discussing plans to balance the budget with the finance committee of the chamber of deputies. The officials have prepared strong measures against seceders with the aid of the Morgan credits.

Belgian Franc Tops French.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Oct. 13.—For the first time since the war the Belgian franc today was worth more than the French.

The Belgian franc was quoted here at 106.15 to the pound sterling, while the French franc was quoted at 106.75. Hitherto the Belgian has always moved with the French franc, keeping five or six points below. The change was due to the arrangement made during the recent visit to England of the Belgian finance minister, who arranged to liberate Belgian finance from domination by the Bank of France.

HERMIT SLAYING
Centerville, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—With the completion of the jury and the opening arguments by attorneys the trial of Jesse Page, 45, and Russell Townsend, charged with first degree murder, swung into action at Salem this morning.

State's Attorney Charles F. Dew did not say anything about the "death penalty" in his opening arguments. Five witnesses were examined today, four of them describing the condition of the body of Thomas Ingram, the victim, after he had been beaten at his hermit home a mile and a half from Salem on June 10. Before his death Ingram charged that Page and Townsend administered the beating.

MURDER TRIAL OF EX-DRAGON SPLITS KU KLUX

Faction Is Still Faithful to Stephenson.

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 13.—[U.N.]—The Ku Klux Klan issue has reached major proportions in the murder trial of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of that organization in Indiana. As the questioning of prospective jurors goes forward it becomes evident that Stephenson's former connections will play an important part in the fight to acquit or convict him of responsibility for the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis.

Although Earl Gentry and Earl Klenck are on trial with Stephenson, all that has occurred in the courtroom thus far indicates that virtually all the testimony will concern the former Klan leader.

Girl Drank Poison.
The three defendants are alleged to have abducted Miss Oberholzer, refusing to call medical aid when she drank the poison that caused her death.

Representing the Oberholzer family and assisting the prosecution is a former state supreme court judge, Charles E. Cox. Judge Cox represents that faction in the state Klan which believes that Stephenson should be punished "for the good of the order."

But Stephenson is not without influence in his own organization. He still heads a faction large enough to create a serious rift in the Klan ranks should he decide to bring the issue into his defense.

Death Penalty Asked.
The jurors that had been accepted tentatively up to tonight were those who denied allegiance to any secret society and promised they would not hesitate to impose the death penalty should the evidence convince them the defendants are guilty.

Stephenson and his co-defendants will attempt to prove that Miss Oberholzer committed suicide, that they offered to aid her, but that she was determined to die and did everything she could to defeat their attempts to save her.

Studebaker Fund Given

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The University of California announced here today a gift of $20,000 from the Studebaker Corporation of America for the creation of the Albert Russell Erskine bureau for traffic research at the southern branch of the university in Los Angeles. The bureau will be devoted to street traffic problems.

FIND BODY OF C. BURGHALTER, LOST CANOEIST

Drowned Monday afternoon while on his honeymoon, the body of Calvin Burghalter, 28, of Kenilworth, was recovered yesterday at Waukegan, Wis. Burghalter was a bond salesman for the Taylor-Ewart Co., 137 South La Salle. He was canoeing alone, on a lake, and fell in. No water was found in his lungs, so it is believed death was due to shock.

Burghalter was married last Saturday to Beatrice Pease, daughter of Warren Pease, an attorney, of 320 Locust street, Kenilworth. The couple left immediately for Waukegan on a wedding trip.

Ship Board Rejects All Bids for Hog Island

CONCILIATION IS URGED IN FERGUS DISTRICT FIGHT

Mayor's Aids in Favor of Peaceful Tactics.

John B. Fergus, 82 year old Chicagoan, who is attracting nationwide attention by his litigation to force a legislative reapportionment in Illinois, received a jolt from an unexpected quarter yesterday.

Flushed by his preliminary victory in the Illinois Supreme court, which last week agreed to listen to his plaint that Cook county is being discriminated against by the downstate majority of the legislature in defiance to the state constitution, Mr. Fergus expected full support from Mayor Dever's committee of 200.

Take Conciliation Stand.

It had been expected that this committee would be fighting organization that would give Mr. Fergus its full support and arouse the citizenry of Cook county to the injustice it is suffering. But a subcommittee of the executive board marked its first action yesterday by suggesting conciliatory, amicable and compromising negotiations with the downstate.

This subcommittee is composed of Henry P. Chandler of the City club, Mrs. D. F. Langworthy, president of the Women's City club, and Prof. Ernst Freund of the University of Chicago.

Praise for Fergus.

Mr. Fergus found some consolation, however, in the fact that the executive board refused to take immediate action on the report of its subcommittee, which recommended holding aloof from the Fergus mandamus suit against the legislature.

The report characterized Mr. Fergus as a brave and unselfish gentleman who is making a valiant fight for his fellow citizens, and then suggested that the committee, instead of backing him up by participating in the suit, attempt to change public opinion and sentiment in the downstate on the reapportionment issue.

"We deem it unwise to suggest the formation of a new state," the report states in one place, pointing out the difficulties or practical impossibility of obtaining legislative and congressional approval for state separation.

"We believe that care should be taken to avoid division along sectional lines," it says in another paragraph. The subcommittee suggested that pledges be obtained from downstate legislative candidates that they "would be amenable to argument for just representation."

Wyoming Mountain Fogs Delay Air Mail Planes

Laramie, Wyo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—H. A. Collison, air mail pilot between Salt Lake City and Cheyenne, was forced down last night by a dense fog. He left for Cheyenne today when the fog lifted. He was 24 hours flying from Salt Lake City to Laramie.

Air Mail Delayed.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A fog so dense that air mail beacon lights could not penetrate it hung over Cheyenne last night and prevented the arrival here on time of the air mail from the east and west. The east-bound air mail plane was forced down east of Sidney, Neb.

U. S. COMMITTED TO WORLD COURT, SAYS EX-JUSTICE

Clarke Quotes Presidents
Present and Gone.

Springfield, O., Oct. 13.—(P)—Long advocacy of the world court by presidents and other statesmen of the United States has placed this country under a moral obligation to unite with other nations in support of this agency of international peace, declared John H. Clarke, former justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, in an address here tonight.

Stipulating that he favored joining the court with the Harding-Coolidge reservations, Justice Clarke, in addressing a convention of Welfare Workers of Ohio, also spoke in favor of the "Harmony Peace Plan for America," published last July by peace advocates.

Morally Committed.
Saying Presidents Roosevelt, Taft, and Wilson had urged the other nations to join the United States in establishing "just such a world court as the existing one is" and that Presidents Harding and Coolidge had urged joining that court, the speaker added: "If we now refuse the invitation of the forty-eight other nations to join this world court they must justly conclude that in all our long advocacy of the court we have been deceitful, perfidious, and false."

No Hope for League.
Justice Clarke had become convinced that the Republican party regarded the 1920 and 1924 elections as a command from the people not to join the league of nations, and for this reason, he said, it is the duty of the friends of peace to devise some new method of approach to cooperation with the other nations if "we are to prevent the coming of another world war."

"International law," he said, "not only does not now condemn war as a crime, but, treating it as lawful, it attempts to civilize it by an elaborate system of futile laws for the conduct of war and the nations reserve their highest honors for the man who most successfully conducts such slaughter."

U. S. SELLS ITALY 27 PER CENT OF 1925 IMPORTS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
ROME, Oct. 13.—The United States sent Italy twenty-seven per cent of her total imports and purchased 11 per cent of her exports for the seven months beginning with January, according to a report issued today by the minister of commerce. Italy imported 75,000 tons of grain from the United States. This is expected to be reduced next year when the trade agreement with Russia is effective. The chief Italian imports from America were grain, cotton, petroleum, copper, iron, and machinery. The chief exports to America were silk, olive oil, cheese, hides, straw and other hats, marble and mercury. Great Britain was Italy's biggest buyer.

FARE BOOST IS DENIED BY STATE BODY; FIGHT ON

Refuses to Grant Raise Ordered by I. C. C.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Illinois commerce commission declined to give its approval yesterday to a 20 per cent raise in commutation fares granted by the interstate commerce commission to the North Western railroad for Chicago suburbs with in Illinois.

It is understood that the state commissioners privately question the right of the federal commission to fix suburban fares within Illinois and intend to act accordingly, although no official statement was made by the Illinois commissioners.

However, it was whispered that some of the Illinois commissioners feel that if the federal commission makes this case stick, it will take away all the powers of the Illinois commission over railroads. A fight now seems almost certain. That is not only in the atmosphere of Chicago, but certain working in the federal decisions indicates that the United States commission is ready for battle. Its effect will be far reaching.

Facts in Controversy.

To explain the nub of the controversy, a few preliminary facts must be noted. In 1920 the federal commission granted a 20 per cent increase in railroad rates. That included Chicago suburban fares on the North Western railroad for communities in Wisconsin. The North Western decision by the interstate commission was on a petition filed in Washington.

In its decision the federal commission says: "In this connection it should be said that the increased commutation fares here considered were filed by the petitioner with the Illinois commerce commission, to become effective Feb. 15, 1925, and have been suspended until Dec. 15, 1925 (by the Illinois commerce commission). The same schedules were at the same time filed here and were suspended in respect to their interstate application. In that situation we sought the cooperation of that commission for the disposition, through a joint hearing and conference agreeably with the cooperative plan, of the issues thus presented, but failed in the effort."

Body Not Represented.

Emphasizing this lack of cooperation, the federal commission says that its report made public Monday was confined to a consideration of the commutation fares of the Northwestern, "on record made following its petition for further hearing filed here May 5, 1925."

More pointedly the federal commission continues: "No appearance was entered at the later hearing for the Illinois commerce commission or for the governor of the state, although notified, and although a representative of the state commission who had appeared for its predecessor—the public utilities commission—throughout the earlier hearing, was present during a part of the later hearing and made a formal statement in the record."

Raise Is Granted.

So the federal commission gave the Northwestern a 20 per cent increase on Chicago suburban fares within Illinois, and Attorney R. M. Van Doren for the road yesterday suggested to the state commission that it step out of the picture. Chairman Frank L. Smith replied by announcing that the hearing before the state commission would proceed. It did.

Of course the state commission, after concluding its inquiry, can announce a decision for the identical 20 per cent boost which the federal commission granted, but it now seems highly improbable that it will take that particular action. It is more likely that the state commission will grant a boost of less than 20 per cent, if it approves of any advance. Then which order will the Northwestern obey?

Others Seek Boosts.

Other railroads have asked the Illinois commission for the privilege of boosting fares 20 per cent. The six principal suburban carriers claim they lost an aggregate of $2,884,329 in that business last year. A 20 per cent increase would wipe out about half of that loss, which means that $1,400,000 is the amount of the stake. It is assured that the railroads will battle for it if they think there is a chance of winning.

As a consequence it seems probable that the suburban fare matter will land in the courts. The subject is on the boards of the Illinois commerce commission this morning. Perhaps some new light will be turned on by Assistant Corporation Counsel J. J. Coughlin of the city, Fred Dickinson of Winnetka, and A. E. Muenervager of Zion City, lawyers who are attempting to prevent the Northwestern from getting approval of a 20 per cent increase from the state commission.

Use 10 Cowhides in World's Largest Cavalry Boot

BERLIN.—What is said to be the largest cavalry boot in the world was recently manufactured to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the Bootmakers' guild in Doebeln, Germany. Ten large cowhides were required to supply the leather for the boot. The foot measures 5.9 feet and the shaft 16.4 feet.

SQUIRREL TAIL IN CAF COSTS HUNTER HIS LIFE

INDIANAPOLIS.—A squirrel tail he was wearing in his cap cost Senor Campbell, aged 45, a garage owner of Leavenworth, Ind., his life. He went hunting with Joseph Hedden Sr., also of Leavenworth. They separated, and a squirrel barking in a tree attracted the attention of each man and they approached the tree without either seeing the other.

Hedden saw the squirrel tail in Campbell's cap moving in the bushes, and thinking it was the squirrel, fired his shotgun. Three of four shots struck Campbell in the face. He lived for several minutes. When he died Hedden, who was frantic, ran three-quarters of a mile to a highway and hailed a motorist, who experienced difficulty in learning from the excited man just what had happened. The accident occurred about two miles north of Leavenworth.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

For years you've known this smarter better-fitting underwear But do you realize how little it costs?

A SINGLE SET of Carter's Union Suits have kept me warm for three seasons," writes a New York woman, "and more than that they've been modish through all the style changes in outer garments."

If you bought union suits last year can you say the same of them? No doubt you have known Carter's for years; three generations of women have complimented Carter quality. But perhaps an alluring "bargain" in union suits caught your attention last year. Will those union suits, too, wear for three years? Do they look like new after a season's washings? Were they always comfortable—always smart?

Carter's Union Suits would be almost new today no matter how hard you wore them last winter.

And probably Carter's would have cost little if any more than you paid.

An expert woman designer fashions

Women's Union Suits $1.15 to $8.25

Cotton, cotton-and-wool, cotton mixed with wool and mercerized cotton, cotton-silk-and-wool, silk-and-wool, and all wool.

Men's Union Suits $1.75 to $10.00

Cotton, cotton-and-wool, cotton mixed with wool and mercerized cotton, cotton-silk-and-wool, silk-and-wool, and all wool.

Girls' Union Suits $1.75 to $6.50

Cotton, cotton-and-wool, cotton mixed with wool and mercerized cotton, and cotton-silk-and-wool.

Boys' Union Suits $1.75 to $7.75

Cotton, cotton-and-wool, cotton mixed with wool and mercerized cotton, and cotton-silk-and-wool.

Babies' Shirts 50c to $3.50

Cotton, cotton-and-wool, cotton-silk-and-wool, and silk-and-wool.

Babies' Bands 25c to $1.25

Cotton, cotton-and-wool, cotton-silk-and-wool, and silk-and-wool.

each Carter style—using living models—following the mode.

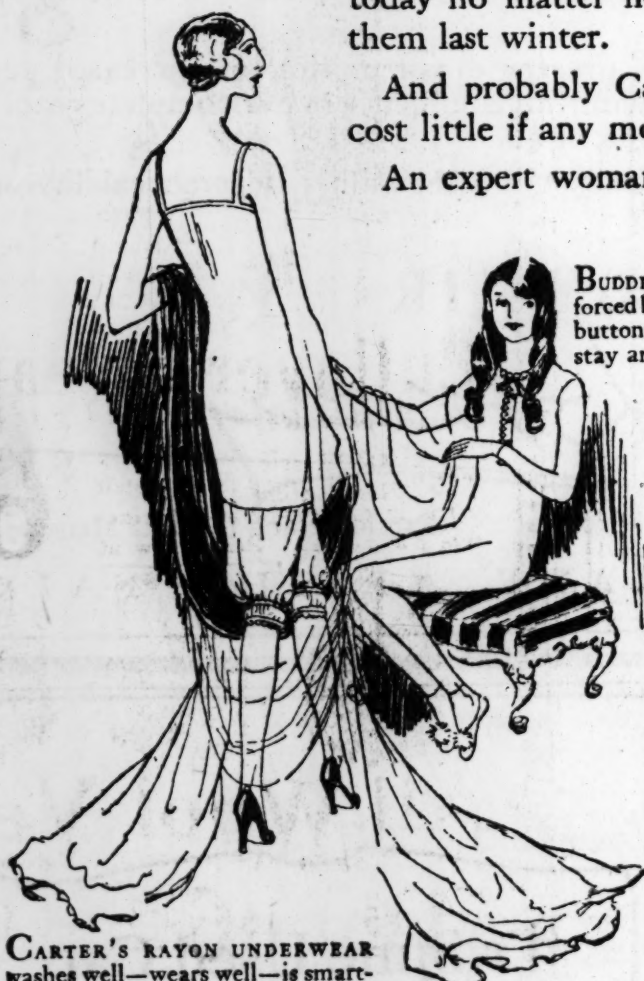

In her hands the wonderful Carter fabric, specially knitted on multi-needle machines, becomes almost as living as your soft skin. And how today's straight, slim lines and boyish figures do laugh at carelessly-bought, bunched underwear!

You can see the value in any Carter Suit

Examine a Carter's Union Suit. See how cleverly the neck lines are fashioned, how the straps hold firmly yet gently over the shoulders, how well it fits over the bust. Look at the trig, trim lines over the hips and the correct crotch length. See the sewed-on-to-stay buttons.

Buy Carter's for men, children, babies, too

Really compare Carter's with those wonderfully enticing "underwear bargains" before you decide. Carter has no fear of comparison with any underwear at any price. The William Carter Company, Needham Heights, Mass.

BUDDER SEAMS, reinforced buttonholes and buttons sewed on to stay are features.

CARTER'S RAYON UNDERWEAR washes well—wears well—is smartly cut, daintily colored, beautifully finished. Economical, too.

TWO CARTER'S UNION SUITS that men especially like. They will not bag and sag in the seat, the crotch length is just right, and the soft, springy Carter fabric yields to every movement of the body.

SNUG-FITTING wrists and ankles, soft and warm fabrics that do not irritate children's skin. This Carter model is a great favorite. Girls like it—and mothers find it economical and long-wearing.

"I COULDN'T afford underwear that failed to give real service," said the mother of three boys, "my children wear it out too fast." Carter's satisfies her, keeps her children warm and well, gives real value in wear for every dollar invested.

CARTER'S VESTS and bands can be washed daily without losing their soft, fine texture. They never irritate baby's skin. Single or double-breasted; side-pinning for square-fold diapers if you use this method. All weights. Silk-and-cotton is much liked.

CARTER'S UNION SUITS—even the warmest—are so soft and fine that they never feel bulky, nor do they wrinkle under the corset. These two styles are especially popular, but there are many others, too. No matter what weight, fabric or model you require, there is a Carter Union Suit that will please you. And how Carter fabrics do wash—dirt just rolls out! After each washing all the silky softness, the springy elasticity of the fabric is restored.

PLAN $3,000,000 ART PALACE ON MICHIGAN AVE.

Building at Ohio Street to Contain Two Theaters.

BY AL CHASE.

First definite steps in making a new rialto north of the river, on Upper Michigan avenue, are to be taken in the erection of a $3,000,000 structure at the southwest corner of the boulevard and East Ohio street, diagonally across from the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank, to be similar in character to the Fine Arts building, and like it, to contain two theaters.

It is understood that Al Woods will lease both playhouses. One of the theaters will seat 1,100 and will be used by Mr. Woods for drama exclusively. The other will have 500 more seats and will be used for musical shows principally.

To Build Eight Stories.
According to Murray Wolbach, who heads the syndicate, which includes Gen. Nathan William MacChesney and Charles Rubens, the building will have foundations for twenty-three or more stories but at present only eight will be built.

The plans of Architect Benjamin H. Marshall call for an elaborate roof garden, space for one or more restaurants, and several floors devoted to exclusive studios and art shops. Martin C. Schwab will be construction engineer. Barik & Warner were agents in the site acquisition.

Use One Frontage.
Although the syndicate owns practically the entire block bounded by Michigan, Ohio, Rush and Grand, only the boulevard frontage is to be improved.

MALAY "WEDDING SEASON" DRAWS ON GOLD OF U. S.
NEW YORK—"Marriage gold" to the value of $1,000,000 is being shipped to the Straits Settlements by a group of New York banks. The gold is in United States coins, which will be melted and used for adornment and dowry purposes in parts of the Far East.

Such shipments always increase at this time of the year, for it is known as the "marrying season." They are unusually heavy this year, however, as the rubber situation has brought prosperity to the Malay natives.

Many of these Foods are offered at Extra Special prices for this month only. Watch for our big Harvest Sale Announcement in next Sunday's papers.

Our Prices Are Never High

Blue Ribbon Coffee

A most unusual thing—when all quality coffee is so unusually high-priced (and there is no indication of it coming down)—to offer this at a DECREASE in price. Two and a quarter pounds to the package now, the convenient Dollar Package—and the same coffee that Blue Ribbon Shoppers have been buying for four years. Sold Blue Ribbon Wednesday only.

2 1/4 Lbs., $1

1/4 Lbs., 25c

Blue Ribbon Bacon

A whiff of this Bacon at the breakfast table will awaken the keenest "outdoor" appetite and the taste of the Bacon will more than satisfy that appetite. Of the finest quality—dry-cured and hickory smoked until it is as sweet as a butternut, and just the right proportion of lean and fat; 6 to 8-pound slabs; sold by the whole Lb., 46c or half.

DOUGHNUTS

Doughnuts, Doughnuts and more DOUGHNUTS—5 bakers working every minute can hardly keep up with the eager cry. Crisp, golden, regular puff balls for lightness and a flavor that you'll never forget and that you'll never find in any OTHER doughnut, big or small—the "no hole" kind.

Doz., 30c

Blue Ribbon Wednesday is DOUGHNUT DAY

PARISIAN CHOCOLATES

You could travel a thousand miles and not find the equal of this wonderful package. Think of it! Three pounds of exquisite confections for the price you would expect to pay for ONE POUND of quality candy—nougats, caramels and assorted whipped creams—every piece a flavor delight. Packed in a plain straw-board box—the quality is 3 Lbs., $1 all in the candy.

To Our Patrons, Co-Workers and Stockholders

OUR Golden Jubilee, symbolic of 50 years of good will, has been the most successful merchandising event in our history. During the eight days of our Fiftieth Anniversary Sale we sold over the sales made during our entire sale of October 1924.

$2,089,230

A gain of more than

$1,000,000

We now pause to express our deep gratitude to our friends and co-workers and the newspapers for the whole hearted co-operation which made the occasion such a glorious success. To the many manufacturers who contributed their share, we also express a deep sense of appreciation.

We ask the indulgence of those patrons who may be inconvenienced by temporary delay in receiving their purchases. Every order will be delivered at the earliest possible moment.

We now enter a new era of greater opportunities, of increased responsibilities, which we accept with full confidence in our complete readiness to perform to the satisfaction of all.

The outcome of this effort demonstrates the value and practicability of customer and employee ownership.

How the Monthly Country Gentleman Meets a Great Change on the Farm

Today, the thoughts and interests of the typical American farm family reach far beyond the narrow limits of their daily toil.

The "trade paper" type of farm publication is no longer sufficient—they demand, and deserve, something more.

In addition to the strongest agricultural departments published today, the monthly Country Gentleman sets for the farm field standards of editorial and mechanical excellence equal to those of the great national magazines and offers a breadth and variety of fiction, articles, and special features comparable only to those of The Saturday Evening Post and The Ladies' Home Journal.

A rapid increase in circulation, and a demand for advertising space far exceeding our expectation, are the guarantee that this magazine will become the foremost publication in America for those whose homes, or whose interests, are in the country.

RACING AIRMAN LANDS SAFELY IN BROKEN PLANE

Uninjured After Machine
Hits Telephone Pole.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The 1925 national air races were brought to a dramatic close today with a superb example of an army aviator's judgment, skill, and coolness in the face of danger.

With the left landing wheel and its struts torn away against telephone and power lines from the large Douglas transport plane, he was piloting in the Detroit News trophy race, Capt. Early Duncan of Langley Field, Va., faced with one of aviation's most dangerous situations, nevertheless made a safe landing in full view of the breathless crowd.

Cheer Landing Aviator.
Thousands stood transfixed as they realized the position of the aviator and his passenger, Sergt. William Morehead, also of Langley Field.

They burst into cheers after the plane glided slowly to the ground with motor throttled down, taxied along for 700 yards balanced on its one remaining landing wheel, and came to a stop by digging its nose into the ground.

The propeller crumpled against the ground, the nose of the plane was bent and a wing dragged with some damage. But the two flyers stepped from their cockpit unharmed.

The loss of the gear and its struts occurred in the eighth 12 mile lap of the 120 mile race, about three miles south of Hicksville, N. Y., on the New bridge road. Capt. Duncan explained that his plane, necessarily flying low to maintain its speed of more than 110 miles an hour and weighted down with the one ton load it was required to carry under the rules of the race, which was a test of the commercial carrying power and speed of large aircraft, had been caught in the "wash" of a passing plane. The disturbed air, he said, caused his craft to drop about 15 feet in the air currents.

Hit Telephone Pole.

In dropping, Capt. Duncan felt an impact, the undercarriage hitting a telephone pole. He turned and saw that the left part of the landing gear had been ripped away by the wires.

Sergt. Morehead crept out of his seat to investigate, and reported the landing gear lost. Capt. Duncan's first impulse was to land in water, but he revolved on another course. Sergt. Morehead shifted the contest ballast to the right of the plane, over the single land wheel, and Capt. Duncan essayed his landing on the field. The balance thus maintained accounted for the comparative ease of the landing.

CHICAGOANS ASK LONDON TO KEEP FAMOUS BRIDGE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Oct. 13.—At a meeting of the London county council today a letter was read from the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects protesting against the suggested demolition of Waterloo bridge which is dangerous and has been closed to traffic for some time. The letter said that all lovers of beauty consider the destruction of the bridge would be a catastrophe.

Various schemes are now under consideration for the reconstruction or preservation of the Waterloo bridge which is one of the most important of those crossing the Thames. It is believed the foundations of the piers were weakened by Zeppelin bombs dropped in the Thames during the war.

AT 50 HE PLAYS FLAMING YOUTH, HIS WIFE AVERS

Accuses Louis Dickman of Hair Dye, Cosmetics.

At the age of 50, Louis Dickman, wealthy south side oil operator and turfman, with offices at 438 West 115th street, dyed his gray hair a sleek black, donned collegiate clothing, bought a low slung sport roadster, and sought to regain his youth in the company of young women, according to a bill for separate maintenance filed yesterday by Mrs. Mary K. Dickman of Beverly Hills.

Mrs. Dickman admitted that she may have lost some of her beauty after 27 years of married life during which time she raised 6 children. But she resented being told by her middle-aged husband, according to the bill, that she was too old for him.

Owner of Race Horse s.
Dickman is an official of several oil companies, including the Chicago Independence Oil Service company and Dickman & Young, Inc. He is well known on the race tracks at Aurora and Hawthorne as the owner of a string of thoroughbreds.

Dickman was kind to his wife until a year ago, according to the bill. Then he fell in love with a young woman whom he termed his "Mary Magdalene." The name of this woman will be told at the trial, Mrs. Dickman said.

Wants Kisses to Mary.
Every morning when "Mary Magdalene" passed the Dickman home Dickman rushed to the front porch and blew kisses to her, according to the bill, which adds he began to beat his wife.

Then he dyed his hair, began to use cosmetics, and to worry about the width of his trousers, so his mate charges.

Mrs. Dickman declared her husband has an income of $15,000 a year and asked for substantial alimony.

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 13.—The most astonishing effect of the legalized sale of 40 per cent vodka in Russia is the improvement in the Soviet newspapers. The Moscow Pravda says the contents of the newspapers show much inspiration, especially the humorist weeklies, which have improved 100 per cent.

ONTARIO LIMITS BEAVER TRAPPING TO THE INDIANS

OTTAWA.—Wholesale slaughter of beaver and other by white trappers, by dynamiting, trenching and every conceivable method, has compelled the Ontario department of game to restrict trapping rights to Indians and cut down the open season in some sections. Since 1921, when an open season was declared, it has been lawful to trap beaver and otter, and since the peak of the catch was reached in 1921 there has been an alarming decline in the number of these valuable fur bearing animals. The indiscriminate destruction practiced by the whites was so noticeable that even the Indians, who, according to the department, usually have regard for the preservation of game life, began to copy the bad habits of the whites.

Bird Perils His Barn with Stub of Lighted Cigarette

TOPEKA, Kan.—A farmer sitting on his porch at Mortill, tossed a cigarette stub out into the yard. Instantly a sparrow swooped down upon the stub, picked it up and flew away. The farmer watched and the bird flew straight for the hayloft. The farmer made a hasty search and got the stub before the barn was set on fire.

One Thin Woman Gained 10 Pounds in 20 Days

Shiny Men Can Do The Same

All weak men and women
All nervous men and women
All skinnier men and women
Can grow stronger, healthier and more vigorous and take on solid needed flesh in 30 days just by taking McCo's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets four times a day—as easy as taking candy.

And what a hit these flesh producing tablets have made. One druggist tripled his sales in one week. Everybody knows that nasty-tasting, evil-smelling Cod Liver Oil is a wonderful vitalizer, flesh producer and health creator.

But who wants to swallow the horrible stuff, when these wonderful tablets—McCo's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—are just as good and so easy to take.

A box of 60 tablets for 60 cents and if any skinnier man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days—money back. Ask Owl Drug Co. or any druggist.

Be sure and get McCo's, the original and genuine, and don't forget there is nothing on earth so good to make backward, ill-used, underweight children grow strong and robust.

INDUSTRY KINGS TO HOLD CONFAB WITH EDUCATORS

Leaders of the major American industries will meet in a public conference on education and industry at the University of Chicago, on Oct. 21, under the joint auspices of the University and the Institute of American Meat Packers.

At this conference the outlook for agriculture, the metal industries, the electric industries, and other important divisions of manufacture and business will be discussed by outstanding men in each field. Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Company and one of the leading figures in American industry, will discuss the outlook for the metal industries.

Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and a leader of modern agricultural thought, will discuss the outlook for agriculture; and Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, noted commander in the world war and now president of the Radio Corporation of America, will discuss the problems and outlook of the radio industries. The conference is expected to attract educators and industrial leaders from all parts of the country.

Both Powers Close
Commerce

(Copyright, 1925, By the Associated Press.)
MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—The Soviet foreign office today by Acting Foreign Minister Litvinov and president of the foreign trade committee, M. Litvinov, announced that the Soviet Union, and the German government, have agreed to suspend all trade relations between the two countries. The agreement, which is the most important since the Russian revolution, is expected to regulate the economic relations between the two countries. Among the points of the agreement are the full recognition of the Soviet Union by Germany and the suspension of all trade relations between the two countries.

RUSSIA SIGNS TRADE TREATY WITH GERMANY

Both Powers Concede Big Commerce Rights.

(Copyright, 1925, By The New York Times.)
MOSCOW, Oct. 13.—The Russo-German commercial treaty was signed in the Soviet foreign office at 5 p. m. yesterday by Acting Foreign Minister Litvinov and president of the treaty negotiation committee, M. Ganetski, for the Soviet union, and the German ambassador, Brockdorff Rantzau, and the president of the German committee, Herr von Kerner, for Germany. The portentous document has eighty printed pages, with twenty separate notes appended. Both parties say it is the most important treaty ever signed between Russia and Germany, since it regulates the whole status of their economic relations.

monopoly and recognition by the Soviet union of the full extra-territoriality promises that the Soviet trade delegation made to Germany.

Lays Down Trade Rules.
The treaty consists of a general preamble, an agreement on the rights of citizens, an economic agreement, a railroad agreement, a commercial navigation clause, a taxation agreement, an arbitration court agreement, and an industrial property agreement.

The chief importance of the treaty lies in the fact—emphasized by Pravda in an editorial yesterday—that the absence of such an agreement between Russia and Germany was not the least of causes of the world war. The treaty is as far as possible in accordance with the Russian law on the equal treatment of Russians and German enterprises in Germany and the Germans and German enterprises in Russia.

Regarding the most favored nation clause, it gives Germany certain privileges enjoyed by some eastern nations, such as China and Turkey, but not to the full extent.

Give Germany Advantage.
At the same time, German trade with these eastern countries is privileged above other western powers, but not above Persia, Mongolia or Afghanistan. The Germans will have the same transit facilities through Soviet territory as are given the Russians by Germany. The Soviet union gets favorable terms for importation of German cattle, meat, fowl, and the like. Both sides agree to give facilities for visits of the signatory nations, and to allow goods to be shipped on consignment.

IRON OF ANCIENTS SUPERIOR, STEEL MEN ARE TOLD

LONDON.—Attention was drawn to the superior corrosion resisting qualities of ancient iron compared with the modern product at their autumn meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute at Birmingham.

Dr. J. Newton Friend and Mr. W. E. Thorneycroft gave the result of examination of iron nails discovered during recent excavations at Richborough castle, on the site of an important Roman naval station. In comparison with a piece of modern mild steel, the loss in weight of the Roman iron was only approximately half that of the modern metal.

Sir Robert Hadfield took the case of the sixteen hundred year old pillar at Delhi, the iron of which, he said, was freer from inclusions even than Swedish charcoal iron. "It is an extraordinary fact," he said, "that in spite of modern scientific progress the metal of the Delhi pillar is superior to anything we can produce today."

An ambulance was summoned, and as it was returning to the hospital with Nora as a passenger it struck a bump which dislodged the quarter.

(Copyright, 1925, By The New York Times.)
CONSTANTINE, Algeria, Oct. 13.—The Franco-American expedition seeking to uncover hidden chapters on ancient and prehistoric Africa assembled here yesterday to start on a 1,500 miles archaeological; Alonzo B. Pond, Beloit dash through the Sahara to Hoggar. It will seek to trace the ancient trade routes and determine the original of the strange white race of Tuaregs in central Africa.

Count de Prorok and Bradley Tyrell, a trustee of Beloit college, arrived from Tunis, where Count de Prorok reviewed last spring's excavations at Carthage and Utica. Here they met Maurice Reygasse, the north African archaeologist; Alonzo B. Pond, Beloit college anthropologist; Baron d'Erlanger, Andre Chapuis, Caid Belaid, the Taureg interpreter, and others. The six wheeled cars which will carry the explorers through the most dreaded Sahara region arrived yesterday by train. After a final turning up they will start tomorrow morning via Batna, Timgad, Biskra, and Tougart.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.
The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

Mandel Brothers, "famous for silks," feature
New fall velvets—remarkably low priced
Black chiffon velvets, 4.95 and 5.95

Black velvet is pre-eminent among the smart fabrics of the season for gowns for both formal and informal wear. Designers laud the light weight, supple finish of this material for creating the fall silhouette. Fast dye and deep pile. The 4.95 yard velvets are silk faced; the 5.95 yard velvets are all-silk.

Fashionable velveteens
36-inch, $3 yard

Velveteen at its loveliest—having the texture of soft suede—the practicality of wool—the depth and color of velvet. In brilliant colors, street shades and black.

Velvet brocades

The Pearl Headed Pin

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.
Henry Ledway and his partner, John Selkirk, are accused of murdering a business man. Selkirk is supposed to have killed a railroad wreck. Selkirk serves twenty years in prison. Upon his release he informs Ledway's wife and her present husband, Col. Hallett, that neither he nor Ledway was guilty. The Halletts are remodeling their London house and Mrs. Hallett goes there to meet the contractor, Edward March. Ledway appears and threatens her with blackmail. Col. Hallett arrives, and Ledway, trying to escape, falls through an open shaft. The coroner, unable to find the body, holds his wife's story of the supposed asphyxiation. March, it develops later, slits Ledway's throat, mutilates the corpse and throws the body into the river with pieces of his own in a pocket. He then attempts permanently his frequent disguise as Cornboise, an art dilettante, and drops from sight as March. Ledway's body is taken from the river. It is identified by Ray Bristowe, a friend of Mrs. Hallett's daughter, Joan, as that of March, his uncle, by means of the pearl headed pin found on the body, which Ledway had taken from Mrs. Hallett. Selkirk is identified as Ledway, she testifies at the inquest that she had given the pin to March. The police hunt Selkirk, suspected of killing March.

Cornboise, with whom Joan plans to open a modest shop, calls and Mrs. Hallett recognizes him as March. He reveals that he named her in the will so she might get the money Selkirk by threatening to blackmail her. Mrs. Hallett forces him to shelter Selkirk by threatening to tell the police. When Joan learns that her mother is mysteriously unable to give March's money to Bristowe, as Mrs. Hallett had planned, she begs him to return it. He does so, but, misunderstanding, scorns her, even when she tells him the reproaches of a number of details, and Mrs. Hallett, in order to avoid further questioning, goes out of town without leaving an address. Joan agrees to marry Cornboise on his promise to reveal her mother's connection with the March murder on their honeymoon. Selkirk, suspicious of Cornboise, determines to save Joan from him.

INSTALLMENT II.
SELKIRK BLUFFS A BIT.
Facing Selkirk, Cornboise was remembering how he had manufactured evidence of his having changed his clothes before he slipped out of the building that day Selkirk waited for him.

"There's a pretty strong case against you, you know," snapped Cornboise. "I had an idea that you would stay here for a month or so and then, when the police got a bit tired, we could get you out to Canada or some such place, or, if you preferred it—I don't know where your tastes lie—possibly a farm in England, or a small business of some kind."

"O, you're much too kind. I couldn't think of anything of that sort," said Selkirk.

"But—" "I don't care to discuss it," cut in Selkirk. Cornboise elevated his eyebrows.

"Really, my dear Selkirk," he gave a deprecatory laugh. "I must confess that you surprise me. You tell me with—engaging frankness that you—do not care to discuss it."

The suspicion that had been growing in Selkirk's mind suddenly blazed into certainty. He knew that the moment had come to put that suspicion to the test.

"I have offended you, I see," he said, rising. "I have only to thank you for your hospitality and retire myself at once."

Cornboise sprang out of his chair.

"I assure you you have not offended me!" he said, almost penitently.

"Come, Selkirk, what on earth are you quarreling about?"

"I am sorry," said Selkirk. "The plain fact is that the position is intolerable to me. Here am I playing bluff, confined to this flat. Except for some physical comforts, which mean nothing to me, I might just as well be in prison."

Cornboise's hand was on his arm, gently urging him back to his seat.

"We must talk it over—we must think of something. I didn't know the butter business would gall you. We will drop it except in the presence of my mother. And you might fix up one or two little parties, eh? You understand? Of course, I'm engaged myself and that sort of thing no longer interests me. But I'll arrange that Miss Hallett does not come to this flat again."

By Mae Tine.
Good morning!

Perhaps there ARE some folks who don't like the movies, but you'd never believe it to watch the crowds breaking their necks to get into the Harding theater at its opening Monday afternoon! Traffic was tied up for blocks.

Lubliner & Tring's new picture house is charming. It is spacious, tastefully decorated, and the seats are comfortable. They have an entertaining program this week, and the picture is a good one.

"Photographed in Logan Square?" Well, some of it. Street scenes and so on—and, my aunt, the applause that greeted every familiar sign, truck or tree! Flashes of other parts of Chicago, too.

"When they show The Tribune Tower, WE'LL clap," said the friend who was with me. But they didn't.

The fascinating "Joseph Greer and His Daughter," by Henry Kitchell Webster, is the story from which the picture was taken. It is a story of the real world, the world of the future, and the world of the past.

It is the tale of a brainy inventor, not of the so-called 400, who has a terrible yen to enter society; devotes all his energies to that end, and learns through the scathing experiences of his tempestuous, self-willed daughter and himself the difference between veneer and the real thing.

The real thing turns out to be a chauffeur, the woman who for years has been his loyal secretary and partner, a faithful, spray-footed colored girl to boot, and, finally, himself and daughter.

The men to whom he has entrusted his invention—a device for producing linen cheaply, in the belief that through them he and his daughter may gain a foothold in those circles he and well, if you like to entertain a little friend here, I should be the last to object. And, of course, it must be done comfortably. Draw on me, my dear fellow. I can let you have a hundred or two tomorrow."

"In other words," said Selkirk, "you will bribe me with money. You will bring women into your own flat, risking your reputation and the eve of your marriage. In short, you will do anything for me rather than let me walk out of here and give myself up to the police."

"What the devil d'you mean?" asked Cornboise.

Selkirk smiled. His suspicion was confirmed.

"If we are going to quarrel," Cornboise pressed him, "for heaven's sake let us quarrel like gentlemen. What are you trying to convey?"

"That my arrest," answered Selkirk slowly, "would in the end be as dangerous to you as to Mrs. Hallett, and you know it. And—"

"Well?" snapped Cornboise.

"And I know it," finished Selkirk. Selkirk, watching him closely, did not overrate his own success. Cornboise was checked, puzzled, but by no means frightened. Cornboise in fact had sprung on guard.

"Stones thrown in the dark in the hope of hitting something," he snarled. "You've said nothing so far that might not have been pure guesswork."

"I tell you that by rights you ought to be hanged," bluffed Selkirk. "I admit it's possible that you might escape. But it is also possible that you might not."

"Rabbi!" sneered Cornboise. "Stop fooling and get down to brass tacks. I tell you that you know nothing."

Selkirk felt himself weakening under the force of the other's challenge. After all, he had next to nothing. True, the bluff had made Cornboise reveal that he was in some way implicated, but that was all. One could not go to the police and say, "This man is in some way implicated in the murder of Edward March."

"I am waiting, my dear Selkirk," said Cornboise. There was no doubt that Cornboise was very anxious to find out just how much he knew, thought Selkirk. He had made last effort to keep his bluff. "But you know next to nothing of my movements. You know that I went to March Limited that night. But you don't know what I did there."

"Nor care," snapped Cornboise. "We were discussing the case against me—not the case against you. Whatever you did at March Limited, you cannot have acquired any knowledge about me."

Selkirk drained his glass to gain time. Already he was feeling that he had made a fool of himself. He made a last feeble attempt to save his dignity. "Nevertheless, I did acquire indirect knowledge about you."

"How?"

"The question came like a pistol shot. Selkirk knew that the stone thrown in the dark had hit something. But what?"

One more throw—it seemed safe enough even if it yielded nothing.

"I got my information from March himself. You know I did not kill him. Why do you assume that I did not see him and talk to him?"

As he spoke the last words, Selkirk was vaguely conscious that the tension and suddenly snapped Cornboise for a moment said nothing. But his expression, his whole atmosphere had changed.

Cornboise was looking at him and their eyes met. Cornboise's showed neither anger nor anxiety. If anything, they showed an amiable concern.

"I think you're a bit overdone, my dear fellow," said Cornboise. "The nervous strain of the last few days must have been terrible. Have another drink, and then if I were you I'd turn in, and we'll have another chat about the future when you're had a good long sleep."

In the midst of his humiliation, Selkirk quickened. Cornboise did not believe that he had spoken to March. The police themselves would have turned attentively if he had made that statement—would have asked him questions.

Cornboise knew that he had not spoken to March.

Therefore, Cornboise—

"Come. I'm going to pour you out a stiff 'un," Cornboise was saying. "The great thing is to get plenty of sleep and avoid worrying."

Selkirk got up, as if to obey Cornboise's suggestion that he should go to bed. Cornboise thought he was nerve-racked, and the more Cornboise thought the better. He contrived to walk a little unsteadily from the room, while his whole being was elated at his discovery.

Cornboise knew for certain that March had not spoken to him. Therefore, Cornboise—it was a little bit hard to follow up the "therefore." He had the sensation of being on the verge of an immense discovery.

In his bedroom he went over the facts. Therefore, Cornboise must have been on the top floor of the building of March Limited for the whole of the hour or so in which he himself had waited for March to appear. Cornboise must have seen him leave the building, knowing that during that time he had not spoken to March.

It told him something vital about Cornboise—but it told him nothing that would be of the least use to the police.

CLOSEUPS

Jackie Coogan's new picture, "Old Clothes," is now ready for release.

Gareth Hughes is one of the featured players in the natural vision picture, "The Price of the Prairie," now being made at Eganay.

Police! Another noble son of the screen is to be seen in policeman's uniform. Thomas Meighan, as it pleases you! For an hour and a half, recently, while cameras glared, Mr. Meighan directed traffic at 60th street and 5th avenue, New York. They say his makeup was so good that he was bawled out by a truck driver and two taxi pilots. "Irish Luck" is the name of the film in which he wears the regalia of a traffic cop.

has never been able to penetrate and where they and their women so securely move, "do" him.

The women prove sad excuses for the wonderful beings he had believed them. The "society" he has craved turns out to be all shell and no substance—and well—that's the story. I don't want to tell you the ending.

The acting is splendid, with one or two exceptions. Lewis Stone is fine as Joseph Greer—but when is Lewis Stone anything BUT fine?

Shirley Mason is appealing as the wild little daughter. Sweet and strong, I guess, describes Barbara Bedford as the secretary, and Tom Wilson as old "Handsome" is a dear old thing.

"Isn't he cute! Isn't he cute!" two girls sitting behind us kept exclaiming—and then they'd whiney.

"Well, he isn't cute, but he IS a lamb! The picture has been well directed. You'll like it. See you tomorrow!

Hiking Affords a Fine Recreation for Tired Workers

by Antoinette Donnelly

With the swimming season now done, a half dozen business girls ask what they shall take up for fall and winter sports. They ask what I think of bowling as an exercise for girls, also basketball.

Bowling is an excellent form of exercise. I note that a good many of the large organizations are encouraging their girls to have bowling clubs, reporting their teams' doings in the "house" papers. It is an inexpensive indoor recreation, and it is no longer looked upon as an entirely man's sport. It brings all the muscles of the body into play, for which reason, coupled with the amusement feature and the spirit of rivalry in bowling club life, it becomes a valuable form of exercise. It is splendid for the trunk and arm muscles. Physicians frequently recommend it as a remedy for constipation and obesity. Any exercise that stretches the trunk muscles, as howling does, naturally will show that excess weight off the abdomen.

For young girls basketball has many advantages as an exercise. There are organizations like the Y. W. C. A. that use the circulation, and strengthen the whole system. If you are in good physical condition I should certainly recommend the forming of a basketball club.

But how about a hiking club? To me that is the ideal club for young business women. Basketball and bowling are played indoors, and while good, they lack that greatest boon of all to the indoor worker—fresh air. Certainly in the hiking club you can have the fun of companionship you have in a bowling and basketball team.

You may have mixed company in your hiking club, which I have no reason to doubt would help live the life of any young business woman. I have a theory, too, that the kind of young men who go in for this sort of thing are highly desirable acquaintances. You see if you get these Saturday afternoon and Sunday hiking habits, you will find yourself walking to work and home again, and during the brisk fall and the cold winter days you can inject a powerful lot of good youth preserving, efficiency making ome into your system.

This is the best time of year to start a hiking club, with the country walks a riot of gorgeous coloring and the air nippy enough to make you happy.

Lake Geneva Colony to Close Their Homes for Season by Nov. 1

Most of the Lake Geneva summer places will have their doors barred and their windows shuttered for the winter by Nov. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Miller, who have announced the closing of their place, plan to close their home by the first of Nov. and Mrs. Albert P. Miller of 4 West Burton place plan to come into town after Oct. 25, and Mrs. John R. Wilson is to close Sunset Ridge on Thursday and come in to her town house at 63 East Division street. The Augustus D. Curtis place, Robinsonwood, is to be closed tomorrow, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis are going to New York City to attend the wedding of Miss Dorothy O'Reilly and their son, Darwin Curtis, to take place on Oct. 30.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. La Barre of Dunbar road, Quogue, L. I., and of 37 West 72d street, have announced the engagement of their niece, Miss Margaret Campbell, to Russell Vail Carman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Carman of Quogue. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark Baldwin Jr. of Mount Kisco have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Priscilla Baldwin, to Lewis Thompson on Saturday in St. Mark's church, Mount Kisco.

Mrs. Joshua S. Coaden is arriving from Europe tomorrow and will join Mr. Coaden at the Ambassador, where they have taken an apartment.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The President was host at luncheon at the White House in compliment to the members of the Czechoslovakian debt commission.

Mrs. Borah, wife of Senator William B. Borah, who had tentatively planned to sail for Europe this month, has postponed the sailing date until some time in December. With her on the trip will be Mrs. Crawford Moore and her daughter, Miss Catherine Moore, of Boise, Idaho, long time friends of Mrs. Borah. Miss Moore was graduated from Holton Arms school in June.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Helping Hand Needed. I will be thankful to any reader who can supply me with a heavy overcoat, size 36-38, or a shoe for the left foot, size 6 1/2-7. I have been out of work for months, and am at the end of my resources. Am a one-legged man and have found it difficult to obtain work, although I have done machine shop work, have been a clerk in a hotel, night watchman, and held other similar jobs. I am anxious to find something, and willing to work hard. My shoe is falling off, it is so worn. Can some reader supply me with a discarded one? I shall appreciate your kindness, and hope that I will some day be in a position to give rather than to receive.

Both of These Are Somewhat Masculine

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—If clothes make the man, does an aviator's hat make an aviator? If so, Caroline Reboux is likely to make some of us go up in the air. For her chic model, inspired by the aviator's helmet, has uplifting influence—especially on the upturned profile.

We show it here at the top. Grosgrain ribbon in pencil blue fashions its delightful contours. Inasmuch as it has no frame, no brim, and no trimming whatsoever, it may fairly claim to live by its line alone.

As for the line of the second hat, it, too, is somewhat masculine—at least as far as the crown is concerned. For it resembles that of a man's derby. Made of black velours, it rolls up a narrow margin in front and at the sides. Two quills—these are the crown. They are black—this is a combination which loses none of its prestige in a season given over to color.

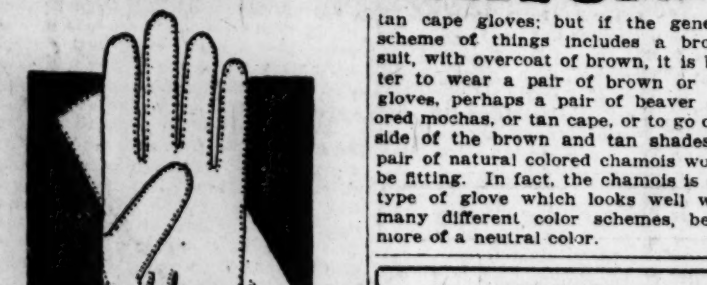

Velvet, hatter's plus, and velours! Within this triangle is found the vast majority of the season's hats for street wear. The latter fabric, available in many shades of green, purple, beige, and wine, has the charm of pliability and richness of tone. One word of warning ought to be sounded concerning velvet. It is this: Spare the cost and spoil the hat. For only a superior and therefore expensive quality will stand up to wear and weather. Moreover, it should be carefully fitted to your head. Unless without undue pulling and pushing the crowns of head and hat may be made to meet, your chapeau will not be becoming, nor will it retain its shape.

Another type of velvet hat, sponsored by Deane, has a tricky little brim welcome to those of us who cannot wear the severe turn-back effect. The brim, narrow in front, turns down slightly. It widens at the sides and sports short back of the ears with the effect of points. Its only trimming is a narrow band of self material placed diagonally across the crown at the back.

slightly. It widens at the sides and sports short back of the ears with the effect of points. Its only trimming is a narrow band of self material placed diagonally across the crown at the back.

MEN'S FASHIONS

tan cape gloves; but if the general scheme of things includes a brown suit, with overcoat of brown, it is better to wear a pair of brown or tan gloves, perhaps a pair of beaver colored mocha, or tan cape, or to go outside of the brown and tan shades, a pair of natural colored chamis would be fitting. In fact, the chamis is on type of glove which looks well with many different color schemes, being more of a neutral color.

GOOPS!

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children

BY GLETT BURGESS

Attention to Gloves.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—With the autumn days come little fashions of dress which during the informal summer days even the smart dressers have been known to forget. Foremost among these is the question of gloves. In the warmer days of fall and winter gloves are not necessary for comfort, and many men are tempted to put them out of mind, and of hand—but for looks, for the satisfactory completion of a smart street outfit, gloves are indispensable.

Gloves should not be thought of as just gloves, something to carry on warm days and protect the hands on cold. They are entitled to as much consideration as an integral part of the costume as the hat and coat and muffler. The average man realizes this to the extent of knowing enough not to wear white kid gloves with a tweed topcoat, but the average man is not apt to give particular attention to whether his street gloves fit in with the color scheme he is using, assuming he has a definite scheme in mind.

In order to have gloves to fit in with any outfit that a man likely to wear, it is necessary to have more than one pair of gloves in the wardrobe. For instance, if you are wearing an outfit that is made up of a gray suit, gray hat, and gray overcoat, of varying shades, a pair of gray mocha or gray buckskin gloves will make a more attractive finishing touch at the hands than a pair of

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Changed Their Minds.

The most embarrassing moments of my life occurred one Sunday morning recently while I was usher at the neighborhood church. It happened that the church was quite full—in fact, the seats were all occupied in the back, but there were a few vacant seats at the very front. Just before the service began, a small party of six people came in. I decided to seat them in a partially empty seat at the front.

Upon arriving there, I found it almost full, but I pushed the occupants in a little, and then at the same time, with great flourishing, I beckoned to the party behind me, and turned about with a bow to seat them. Lo and behold! No one was there! The late was empty! They had seated themselves somewhere in the rear.

Imagine, if you can, my embarrassment, as I walked through a whole

Bright Sayings of the Children

The baby was fretful and began crying while Dick was minding her, waiting for me to come out of the market. He went to the side of the buggy and tried to quiet her, saying, "Hush-sh, but baby paid no attention to him. 'O, mummy,' said Dick, as I came out of the store, 'she won't stop crying for me. You'll have to use your husher.'"

Robert had been sent to the grocery with instruction to buy some butter, either a pound or half pound. "Robert," the grocer, said butter is 25 cents for a half pound or 40 cents for a pound.

"Gimme the pound," the youngster exclaimed promptly. "You ain't going to cheat me out of that nickel!"

Flax-li-num

the building insulation

-if you would know what comfort means insulate your home with Flax-li-num

Flax-li-num
Was Used in These Chicago Buildings

Mr. Albert W. Engel, owner of this fine apartment building, which is located at 4700 Dover St., knows the value of insulation and sound control in securing and holding satisfactory tenants. For this reason he had his architect, Mr. William Bernhard, specify an unusually thorough installation of Flax-li-num.

In this unique and beautiful two flat building, owned by Mr. C. F. Busse and located at 1029 Hull St., Evanston, Flax-li-num assures the occupants comfort and quiet at all times. This building is an excellent example of the use of this effective material. Mr. Busse, in specifying Flax-li-num, typifies the effort being made by the owners of this type of building to provide the occupants with the utmost in year 'round comfort.

When Mr. Theodore Wollschlaeger, the owner of this large apartment building, which is located at 55th and LaSalle Sts., laid his plans, he specified the use of Flax-li-num—the correct building insulation and sound control material. Mr. Wollschlaeger, like many other builders and owners of apartment buildings, has come to realize the sales value in renting which accrues from the use of Flax-li-num.

If you would have a home that is proof against the fatiguing heat of mid-summer, and also proof against the cold of winter, you must insulate the home you plan to build with Flax-li-num, the correct building insulation; the thick, heat resisting material that shuts out the heat in summer and keeps it in during the winter.

Only those who live in houses insulated with Flax-li-num know what complete year 'round comfort means.

The occupants of a Flax-li-num-insulated house have the use of their entire home in all seasons. In summer, sleeping and living rooms are always cool. In winter, a comfortable, healthful, draft-free temperature is easily maintained thruout the home. Every room is usable. Every room is comfortable. Every room is healthful, for young or old.

No home can be called strictly modern unless it is insulated with this effective and efficient barrier to the passage of heat.

Flax-li-num can no longer be considered an extra. It is an essential in a well-constructed home. It cannot be considered an expense. It is really an economy. It makes possible the use of a smaller heating plant. This means an immediate saving. And it reduces annual fuel expense 25% to 33 1/3%. This is a saving which can be noted the very first year the house is occupied and continues to be apparent year after year.

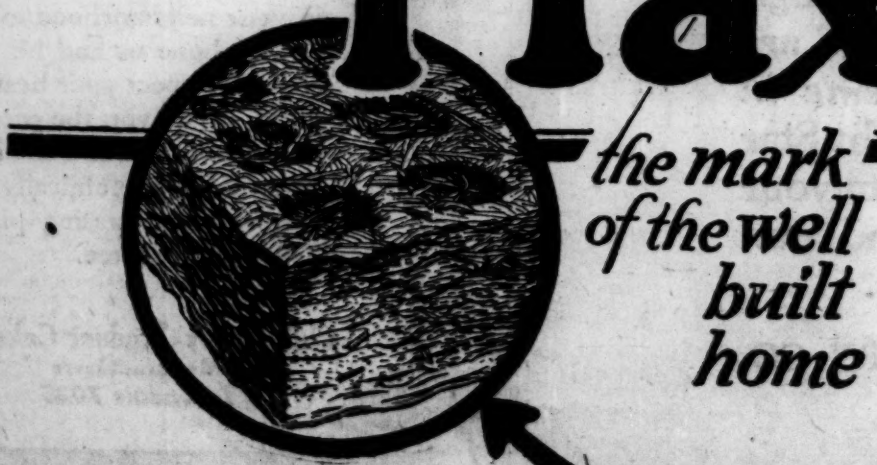

Without incurring any obligation you may send the coupon below, either to the distributor whose name appears in this advertisement, or to the Flax-li-num Insulating Co., Saint Paul, Minn.; and you will receive the full, interesting story of this effective insulating material, and of how you may realize on its advantages whether you are going to build, buy, rent or now own your home.

FLAX-LI-NUM has the Proper Air-Cell Consistency
Flax-li-num is made of felted flax fiber and contains millions of tiny cells of "dead" air. "Dead" air is the best known insulation and is a natural non-conductor of heat.

Equals 16" of Brick or 27" of Concrete
A one-inch thickness of Flax-li-num is as effective in stopping the passage of heat as sixteen inches of brick or twenty-seven inches of concrete.

Made in the Proper Thicknesses
Flax-li-num is made in three thicknesses—a full inch for roofs and ceilings; one-half inch for side walls, and the one-quarter inch is used with the other thicknesses for sound control.

Will Not Warp, Buckle, Break or Tear
Flax-li-num is made in semi-rigid sheets. It cannot be punctured or torn when being installed and will not warp or buckle after installation. It stays in position as long as a building stands.

Vermine-Proof and Rodent-Proof
During manufacture, Flax-li-num is treated so as to be vermine proof. Rats and mice do not attack it in any way.

Easy and Economical to Install
Flax-li-num is made in both flanged and flat sheets, flanged so as to fit easily and snugly between side wall studs and flat for use in roofs and ceilings.

A Proved and Time-Tested Insulation
For over fifteen years Flax-li-num has been proving its efficiency through use. Thousands of homes throughout the country are now insulated with Flax-li-num. It is also used to insulate 90% of the refrigerators now being built.

An Effective Sound Controller
In apartments and two flat buildings, Flax-li-num is used in floors and party walls as a sound controller. Over one-quarter million feet of Flax-li-num was used in the recently completed Steinway Building, New York City. These Masters of Sound found no other material so effective for this purpose.

An Economy—Not an Expense
Enough Flax-li-num to line an average size house costs no more than some good article of home furnishings. It makes possible the use of a smaller heating plant and fuel savings of approximately $50.00 per year.

Experienced Minds Make DECISIONS for every estate in our charge

In the management of any property or estate an experienced mind should make decisions. But it is extremely inefficient to have that same mind cluttered with the routine detail which a clerical staff can handle more efficiently. This is often a serious handicap in the service of an individual executor or trustee. He is a man of all work.

Investments

In this Company all questions requiring careful judgment and expert knowledge are met by senior officials. Inevitably, for instance, investment decisions are made by experienced executives and are passed upon by a committee of the Board of Directors.

Details are handled with system

Routine matters are attended to by a highly trained staff under a definite system which protects against oversight and delay. Time and expense are saved. The same system automatically brings all important matters to the personal attention of competent officials, who by being relieved of routine have the time to deal with them thoroughly.

The building up of such a safeguarded service has taken many years of experience and adjustment in this particular field. May we send you a booklet entitled "Our principles and practice in managing estates"?

Forget business cares for 10 days in Florida!

What are ten days at your desk, compared with this trip to Florida's new miracle city? You come through the scenic Cumberland Mountains by our all-Pullman special train—dining car and observation car all the way. You are entertained at the new Hollywood-by-the-Sea—Beach City. You can enjoy "post season" golf, when autumn is making the southern courses dead and dry, you will find the velvety links at Hollywood-by-the-Sea in prime condition. Roll down the 3 mile Broad Walk, and delight in the gaiety of its happy throngs. Take a daily dip in salt water—in the Atlantic, warmed by the Gulf Stream—or in the new $250,000 mineral, sea, elaborate and gorgeous as an emperor's palace. Above all—you will have the opportunity to see the Florida of today! In speedy motor boats, you can skim the inland waterways, through miles of canals, lagoons and lakes, which are the secret of Florida's greatness. In luxurious motor coaches you can visit the other cities of Florida—up and down the East Coast, lined with its millionaires' mansions. It is such a trip as you rarely get, even at many times the cost. Make reservations early; the demand is always exceptional.

Hog buyers took advantage of too liberal offerings yesterday and forced values to new low levels for the season to date. There was a general decline of 10¢ to 15¢ compared with Monday's best time, packing grades being off most. Day's top was $11.85, although a few $10.90 to $11.00 pigs reached the $12.00 mark. General average dropped 10¢ to $11.10, against $11.95 the previous Tuesday, $10.75 a year ago, and $7.50 two years ago. Packers favored better grades. Armour's drove of 201 lb butchers cost $11.55, while heavy packers sold below $9.50. Quality graded fair. Cattle receipts yesterday at 11,000 were third largest for Tuesday since early in May. With a good many of Monday's 23,480 cattle still in the pens, fresh arrivals proved excessive and weakness prevailed from start to finish, although no serious break was noted. Better grades were scarce and held firm. Butcher stock moved slowly at previous days' decline. Calves slumped 50¢ to 75¢. Prime 1,472 lb steers topped at $11.00. Choice 1,496 lb. averages reached $12.25, the next highest price. Yearlings averaging 999 lb sold at $11.85.

DISASTER SEEN TO LURK IN A. F. L. WAGE DOCTRINE

BY HARPER LEECH.

The dispatches report the discussion of a new wage policy in the convention of the American Federation of Labor. Wages should go up and hours decrease in direct proportion to the increased production, which new machinery and the increased employment of nonhuman power make possible, it is contended.

An examination of the statistical record of capitalism, here and abroad, indicates that this is exactly what is happening and always has happened, in the long run. The rates of pay in real wages of various countries correspond very closely to the per capita horse power employed in them.

Although the federation's demand would amount to no more than a request that the law of gravitation continue to operate, if applied to industry as a whole, with time allowed for society to make natural readjustments, the method of trying to accelerate economic evolution might make a great difference.

Suppose it were attempted to apply the theory to individual industries? The first result would be the disruption of the American Federation of Labor. Imagine the well paid bricklayer or other hand technician, who is assisted comparatively little by fixed capital, in an Alphonse and Gaston mood if the electrical workers, the gas workers, or the automobile makers should raise the prices of their products so that the savings of science and invention would be exclusively devoted to fattening their pay envelopes and the boss' dividend checks?

The question may seem absurd. But how would the federation proceed to make its wage policy effective except by dealing with individual industries? Basically the ideas underlying the present agitation are the same fallacies which have sickened Britain, the belief that somehow labor is robbed by increased production. It is true that in times of rapid changes of productive methods some workers are temporarily unemployed, while others enjoy better wages or cheaper goods. But all the alleged curses for this temporary ill seem to have produced organic social diseases.

The application of the doctrine that labor's wage in any given industry is to be determined by productivity per man would have two results:

1. Reduce the incentive to introduce improvements, and lessen the urge of invention.
2. Deprive the consumer of his right to cheaper goods as the result of scientific and technical advances. All of us have an ethical claim upon the man-

SHORTS BUY COTTON

Cotton prices advanced and closed at nearly the best of the day with net gains of 9¢ to 10¢. Shorts were made uneasy owing to damaging rains in Alabama and Texas, which checked selling and made the upward movement in prices easily attained.

Export clearance of 41,400 bales were also a strengthening factor. Sentiment was mixed and the market regarded as a weather proposition. Prices follow:

$875,000 Welch-Wilmarth Corporation

Grand Rapids, Michigan

6½% First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds Tax Exempt in Michigan

Dated October 1, 1925

Due October 1, 1945

Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100; payable principal and interest (October 1st and April 1st) at the Grand Rapids Trust Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan, without deduction of the normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%. Bonds redeemable as to principal, redeemable as a whole, or in part, upon any interest date on thirty days' notice at 105 for the first five years; 103 for the second five years; 102 for the third five years; 101 until maturity plus accrued interest in each case.

GRAND RAPIDS TRUST COMPANY AND FRANK G. DEANE, GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Trustees

Mr. Tom Thois, President, summarizes from his letter to us as follows:

COMPANY: The Welch-Wilmarth Corporation, incorporated under the Laws of the State of Michigan, is a recent consolidation of the Welch Manufacturing Corporation and the Wilmarth Show Case Company. It is now the second largest manufacturer of store fixtures in the United States and recognized as producing the highest grade standardized store equipment in this country.

The Companies entering into the consolidation started business nearly forty years ago and are pioneers in the manufacture of store fixtures. Both have shown a steady and substantial growth since their inception. Their properties consist of three large plants in the City of Grand Rapids, Michigan, and a plant in Sparta, Michigan.

About 800 people are employed in the Company's operations; and branches and offices are maintained in the principal cities of the United States; also the following foreign branches:

Copenhagen, Denmark

Sydney, Australia

Mayaguez, Porto Rico

London, England

Mexico City, Mexico

Tampico, Mexico

The Companies report Net Sales for the year 1924 in excess of $3,000,000 with average annual Net Sales during the past five years and eight months of $2,658,820.68.

SECURITY: These bonds are the direct obligation of the Welch-Wilmarth Corporation, and are secured by a First Mortgage on all real estate, buildings, and fixed assets of the Corporation, together with hereditaments and appurtenances and income thereof, and additions and improvements. The total net assets of the Corporation, less depreciation, are appraised at over $2,900,000 or in excess of $3,300 for each $1,000 bond of this issue. Net Current Assets are over $1,340,000 or in excess of $1,500 for each $1,000 bond of this issue. The Fixed Assets are approximately $1,390,000 based on replacement value, less depreciation, as determined by The Lloyd-Thomas Co., of Chicago; S. R. Fletcher, and William H. Gilbert, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, Appraisers. The Corporation covenants to maintain Current Assets in excess of Current Liabilities, equal to at least 125% of the principal amount of bonds outstanding at all times.

EARNINGS: The Net Earnings for the year ended December 31, 1924, available for interest charges on these bonds, after Federal Taxes (computed at the current rate), were approximately $350,000—or equivalent to over 6 times interest requirements on these bonds. For the past five years and eight months ended August 31, 1925, average annual net earnings, after Federal Taxes (computed at the current rate), were over 5½ times interest requirements on these bonds.

From the effect of this consolidation it is estimated that substantial savings will result in overhead, manufacturing economies, etc., approximating $100,000 per year.

PURPOSE: The proceeds of this issue will be used to effect the consolidation of the two companies and provide additional working capital.

MANAGEMENT: The present management, which includes Messrs. Tom Thois, Kenneth C. Welch, H. C. Wilmarth, Edmund Morris and O. B. Wilmarth, all of Grand Rapids, Michigan, has been largely responsible for the unusual success of the Companies during the past fifteen years, and continues in active charge of the Corporation's affairs.

All legal details pertaining to this issue will be approved by Messrs. Butterfield, Keeney & Amberg, and Roger I. Wykes, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, for the Corporation, and Messrs. Travis, Merrick, Warner & Johnson, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, for the Bankers. The books of the Companies were audited by Messrs. Seidman & Seidman. Appraisals by The Lloyd-Thomas Company, Chicago, Illinois; S. R. Fletcher and William H. Gilbert, of Grand Rapids, Michigan. We offer these bonds for delivery when, as, and if issued and received by us, subject to prior sale and approval of proceedings by our counsel.

61 Broadway Building

NEW YORK CITY

(Broadway-Exchange Corporation)

7% General Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds (Closed Mortgage)

Dated October 1, 1925

Due October 1, 1945

Principal and semi-annual interest (April 1 and October 1) payable at the office of the Trustee. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000 and $500; redeemable in part at the option of the Corporation on any interest date on 30 days' published notice, or as a whole at any time on 60 days' published notice, to and including October 1, 1940, at 105 and interest, premium decreasing 1% each year thereafter until April 1, 1945. Interest payable without deduction of any Federal income tax net in excess of two per cent. The Corporation agrees to refund to resident holders upon proper application certain State taxes as defined in the indenture.

CHATHAM PHENIX NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, N. Y., TRUSTEE

Mr. E. C. Stuckless, President of the Broadway-Exchange Corporation, summarizes the details of this issue as follows:

PROPERTY: The 61 Broadway Building is one of the largest and most important office buildings in New York City. It occupies approximately 22,200 square feet of land owned in fee, bounded by Broadway, Exchange Alley and Trinity Place, in the center of the financial district. The building is thirty-two stories high and contains approximately 445,000 square feet of net rentable area. The building has been practically 100% rented for the last five years. The basement and first five floors are occupied by the Chase National Bank and the Chase Securities Corporation under a long term lease. Other tenants of the building include the Rockefeller Foundation, Vacuum Oil Co., Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., Associated Gas & Electric Company, etc.

SECURITY: These Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a closed mortgage on the land and building owned in fee, the plot extending approximately 105.1 feet on Broadway, 202.2 feet on Exchange Alley, 110.9 feet on Trinity Place and 209.0 feet on the North line, subject only to existing leases and the lien of the mortgage securing the issue of $9,500,000 First Mortgage 5½% Sinking Fund Gold Loan, due October 1, 1950. The equity following these bond issues represents an investment of $2,365,000 by the present owners who are about to acquire the property.

The land has been independently appraised by George R. Read & Co. at $4,900,000; McKim, Mead & White have appraised the building as having a value of $11,179,736, making a total appraised value of $16,079,736. The appraisal of the building does not include the valuable vaults and improvements installed by the Chase National Bank which represent a substantial investment and which become the property of the building in 1934. Title insurance and adequate fire insurance will be carried payable to the Trustees.

EARNINGS: The earnings of the building for the twelve months ended August 31, 1925, as certified by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, public accountants, applied to the new capitalization, are as follows:

Gross Income	$1,863,942
Operating Expenses, Maintenance, Insurance and Taxes (excluding Federal Taxes)	584,906
Net available for Interest and Sinking Fund	$1,279,036
Interest and Sinking Fund requirements on First Mortgage	613,400*
Balance available for General Mortgage Bonds	$665,636
Maximum annual interest charges on this issue	$210,000

*Based on annual average interest charges and sinking fund requirements for the first ten years.

These earnings are equivalent to over 3.15 times maximum annual interest charges and are over 2¼ times combined interest and sinking fund requirements on these bonds.

SINKING FUND: The mortgage will provide for a sinking fund payable quarterly to the Trustee beginning April 1, 1926, calculated to retire, through purchase in the open market or through retirement by lot at the then call price, the entire issue by maturity. An additional sinking fund is to be created out of net earnings which should substantially increase the rate of retirement.

OWNERSHIP: The entire Common Stock of the Broadway-Exchange Corporation will be owned by the Anahma Realty Corporation of which Mr. August Heckscher is President. Among other properties controlled by the Anahma Realty Corporation are: Heckscher Building, Canadian Pacific Building, 50 East 42nd Street, The Equitable Trust Company Building (uptown), Vanderbilt Concourse Building (leasehold) and 43 Exchange Place Building. The 61 Broadway Building will be under the management of Charles F. Noyes Company.

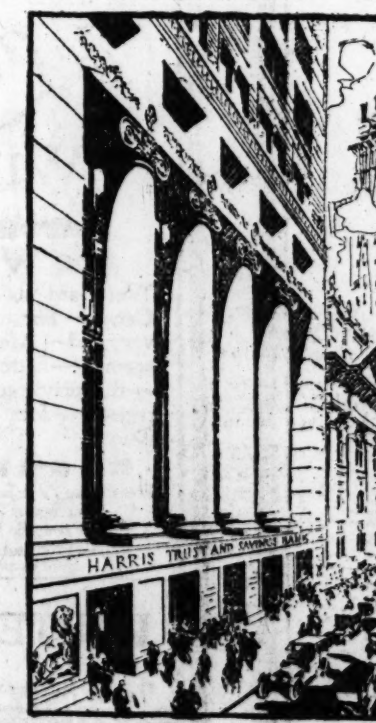

Legal proceedings in connection with this issue are being passed upon by Messrs. Chapman, Cutler and Parker for the Bankers, and by Messrs. Platt, Field and Taylor for the Corporation. These bonds are offered when, as and if issued and accepted by us, and subject to the approval of counsel.

Announcing the new Real Estate Section

THE requirements of The Sunday Tribune's make-up in the past few weeks have made it increasingly difficult to print the real estate news in a fixed location. Now because of increased interest in real estate news and real estate advertising, a special section of The Sunday Tribune will be devoted to this department.

The real estate section will contain news stories, pictures, maps and articles. It will be edited by Al Chase, real estate editor of The Tribune.

Real estate advertising will be placed in this new section.

Those interested in real estate news have looked to Al Chase's columns in The Tribune for the latest and best reports. The Tribune has long maintained a lead over all other Chicago newspapers in the amount of real estate advertising carried. Look for the new real estate section.

starting in next Sunday's Tribune

Commencing this week, all real estate advertising for The Sunday Tribune must be b'd and ordered in before 5 p. m. Friday.

Reducing Costs of Estate Administration

Diversity of business interests and scattered investments often make the handling of estates very complicated and expensive.

have a plan by which your estate may be much more simply managed and liquidated exactly as you specify with a will-while reduction in cost. It provides a fund not subject to any inheritance tax and may reduce your income tax.

A few minutes will tell whether or not you can use the plan and you'll be under no obligation.

NATIONAL TEA PROPOSES 200 PER CENT MELON

BY O. A. MATHER.

The rapid growth of the chain store system and its ability to earn large profits have come into the limelight yesterday. The National Tea company announced a meeting of stockholders for Nov. 2 to vote on a 200 per cent stock dividend. Last year a 150 per cent stock dividend was declared.

The National Tea company operates a chain of 72 retail groceries in Chicago and vicinity and owns a half interest in a subsidiary operating 83 stores in Minneapolis. On Jan. 1, 1923, it had 814 stores. More stores are planned.

Sales last year totaled $20,000,000, but sales this year are estimated at $48,000,000. The company will issue $2,500,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock. The proceeds will be used to retire $1,200,000 of preferred and to finance future expansion of the business.

What Split Means to Stockholders.

What the stock dividend will mean to the stockholders is evidenced by the fact that National Tea common shares stood yesterday above $70 a share. At present there are 50,000 common shares. While the common stock is at $70, $1,037,139, or about $20 a share, in the last annual report the company had a net profit of $5,767,556. Furthermore, net profit last year was $5,767,556.

Profits for this year are estimated around $24 a share.

Runners of other melons, stock splits, and merger also enticed the securities markets yesterday. Shares of the S. S. Kresge company jumped 50 points to 160 a share and closed at $75. The shares advanced 150 points last week. A split-up is anticipated.

Kresge shares now hold the highest price of any issue traded in on the New York stock exchange.

Offers for Fair Stock.

La Salle street heard that the Kresge department stores will make alternate offers for Fair Store common stock. One basis would be 30 shares of Kresge common for each 100 shares of Fair Store common. The other would be 30 shares of Kresge common for each 100 shares of Fair Store common.

Announcement of a formal offer for Kresge common stock was made yesterday. The Kresge department stores and the S. S. Kresge company are separate corporations.

Stockholders of the American Bosch Magneto company voted to increase the authorized stock from 175,000 to 250,000 shares of no par value.

The company of Baltimore will offer 14,257 shares of nonpar common stock at $35 a share to stockholders of record Nov. 2.

Extra Beechum Dividend.

The Beechum Packing company declared an extra dividend of 60 cents on its common stock, bringing its total dividend for this year to $3 a share. Similar extra dividends were declared in the final quarters of 1922 and 1923. The Beechum Packing company declared an initial dividend of 4 1/2 cents. The company's plant company resumed dividends of its preferred stock by declaring a quarterly payment of $1.75 a share.

WHEAT ADVANCES ON HEAVY BUYING; CORN ALSO GAINS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Heavy short covering was on in wheat, and while opening prices were as much as 2 1/2¢ lower on selling induced by the weakness in the northwest on Monday when the local market was closed, the offerings were quickly absorbed, and a bulge of 3 1/2¢ (5 1/2¢ from the low point) was effected. The upward brought in heavy realizing sales and a good reaction came toward the last with December 2 1/2¢ higher, and May unchanged to 1/4¢ lower as compared with Saturday's finish. Corn gained 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. Oats were 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ lower and rye 1/4¢ higher.

The heavy buying to cover shorts was largely in old December and there was little relative pressure on the market. Strong commission houses took advantage of the upturn in the nearby futures to sell the May on a liberal scale, while the pool and elevator interests were selling Winnipeg. The best buyer here was regarded as a leading local short who, it is said, has been coming in on his line for several days.

Minneapolis Wheat Strong.
Minneapolis wheat, which showed pronounced weakness on Saturday, recovered its loss and gained 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ as compared with Saturday, while Winnipeg was off 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ as compared with that day. Liverpool was affected by reports of cool weather in Argentina, drought in Australia, and another Russian offering, and closed 1/4¢ higher than on Saturday. The foreign demand for North American wheat, however, remains decidedly limited, with sales of 500,000 bu. for two days, largely Manitoba.

An increase of only 507,000 bu. in the visible supply was a surprise to the trade. Total stocks are 49,875,000 bu., against 53,711,000 bu. last year. Winnipeg demand went to 526 under Chicago, about the greatest discount in the crop. Routine news had little effect on values and the market was dominated largely by professional operations.

Wheat Bulge Helps Corn.
Strength in wheat was largely responsible for the higher range in corn, although weather conditions were unfavorable for field work, and had a little effect on sentiment. Latter, however, is mainly barley. Country offerings to arrive are light. Spot basis was 1/4¢ better for No. 2 yellow corn at 7 1/2¢ over December, the best premium so far. Little interest was taken in oats and rye.

Provisions were unsettled, breaking early on interest of nearby deliveries of lard by sellers that bought last week. Toward the last cash interests and smaller packers bought and a strong rally followed with the finish unchanged to 1/4¢ higher, January showing the most strength. Ribs were 10¢ lower, and bellies unchanged to 1/2¢ lower. Deliveries on October 13th were 50,000 bellies. Prices follow:

Raw Silk in Six Months

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Raw silk shipments to the United States from Japan, which have been decreasing since the world war, reached 150,000 pounds through Pacific coast ports the first six months of this year. Seventy-nine per cent of the raw silk, which was valued at $240,000,000, was shipped, arriving at Pacific coast ports, was loaded immediately on special trains and rushed east, 9 per cent going to New York to be manufactured into silk goods.

NEW YORK.—The market for dry goods was quiet with prices unchanged. Quotations are: 64x100, 5.35 yards to the pound; 64x100, 4.75 yards to the pound; 64x100, 4.25 yards to the pound; 64x100, 4.00 yards to the pound, 12 1/2¢; 64x100, 4.00 yards to the pound, 12 1/2¢.

NEW YORK.—Quotations from the California burlap market were sharply lower, some centers reporting a shilling under previous prices. Nominal quotations are: 80s, 0.35¢; spot 104s, 12.25¢; October, 104s, 8.00¢; spot 104s, 11.30¢.

BOSTON.—Although business in the wool market here and summer stock is better and happier than some time ago, the week is opening without any special excitement. There is a disposition to hold wool at a price which manufacturers find unattractive and some business has been held up for the time being.

PHILADELPHIA.—Carded yarn prices underwent little additional change, demand being as slack as before. Southern single skeins, 30s and 24s, declined 1 cent, while 24s dropped 1/2 cent, Southern single warps 20s were down 1/2 cent, while 20s, 24s and 36s, single skeins, also were reduced 1/2 cent.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

There was general inactivity in export circles at the seaboard with sales of Manitoba estimated at around 50,000 bu. in two days, and a little cash business also worked. The belief prevails, however, that export business is being unsatisfactorily handled. Chicago handlers sold 15,000 bu. wheat, 40,000 bu. corn, and 25,000 bu. oats to the domestic trade with 30,000 bu. oats sold to go to St. Louis. Minneapolis reported 304,000 bu. wheat sold to ship.

Choice No. 2 hard winter wheat on spot here sold as high as 90¢ over December, an advance of 1¢ in the basis, while No. 1 hard spring sold at $1.02, or 20¢ over the December No. 2, and was nominally 17 1/2¢ over the future basis at Kansas City. Minneapolis was unchanged, No. 1 hard spring in the latter market was 26¢ over Minneapolis December compared with reported purchases of Manitoba at 35¢ over, duty paid, No. 1 northern brought 26¢ over. About 20 cars Canadian were received there.

Demand for cash corn was fairly active with local interests the best buyers. No. 2 mixed brought 40¢; yellow, 70¢; and white 60¢ over December, the basis being 1/4¢ higher. A car of sample grade was received from Ill. territory and sold at 70¢. Outside markets were unchanged to 3¢ higher with Kansas City showing the most activity.

Offerings of cash oats were not large, but the basis was unchanged to 1/4¢ lower with 116 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 44 cars.
